Gold Distribution Urged Part Of Marshall Plan

LONDON (AP)—An authoritative source said today Foreign Secretary Bevin's proposal for redistribution of Fort Knox gold was, in the British view, to be an integral part of the Marshall plan for aiding European economic recovery.

The informant said Bevin had made the suggestion informally in an exchange with Lewis W. Douglas, United States ambassador to Britain, before announcing it publicly Wednesday at the Trade Union Congress in Southport.

In the course of a 70-minute talk today with United States Congressmen who are investigating economic conditions in Britain and western Europe, the Foreign Secretary gave several more details of his proposal, this source added.

BACKED BY MINISTERS

Bevin's elucidation of his proposal for redistributing United States gold stocks came in answer to a question from one of the Congressmen and the informant said the Foreign Secretary made these points:

His proposal had the backing of the British government.

He believed it was unhealthy and unsound economics, out of harmony with the principles of multi-lateral trade which the United States herself was urging, for one country to hold most of the world's gold stocks and not use them.

There would be no lasting settlement of Europe's economic difficulties if continental recovery was to depend on never-ending United States loans.

Gold could become the basis of world currency systems and every nation should have access to it.

The informant said Bevin's elucidation of his proposal was received "somewhat skeptically" by the United States Congressmen. A member of the delegation said "it just doesn't make sense."

Britain, for the most part, received the Bevin proposal placidly.

LITTLE STRENGTH

Only the Financial Times gave it headlines or editorial comment—and that paper which usually reflects the London financial viewpoint, dismissed the idea as one of "little practical value."

"Even Mr. Bevin should not be so naive as to imagine that the dollar shortage can be resolved by a simple financial operation of that kind," the newspaper said.

"The fundamental issue is one of production and exchange of goods. . . . Disequilibrium brought the gold concentration about and would cause it to be repeated unless international trade channels were freed," the Financial Times said.

Otherwise, however, Bevin's call for production and an Empire customs union got a general reception ranging from enthusiasm to mild approval tempered with caution.

Gandhi Agrees To Break Fast; Weaker, Says Doctor

CALCUTTA (CP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi today agreed to break his three-day-old "peace or death" fast undertaken to stop the city's communal riots.

North Calcutta's entire police force of 500 had gone on a 24-hour fast earlier in sympathy with the Mahatma.

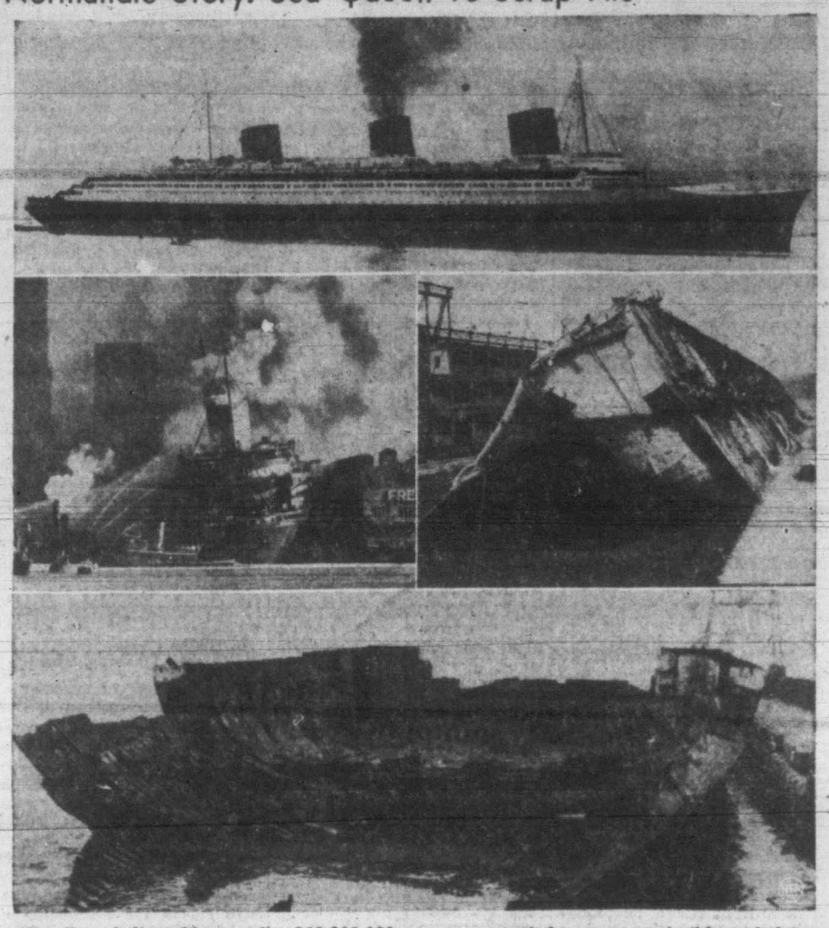
A similar 24-hour fast was to be undertaken by police in other parts of Calcutta tomorrow had Gandhi not yet accepted nourishment.

The aged Hindu spiritual leader had said he would continue his fast "until sanity returns to Calcutta."

"The Mahatma is distinctly weaker than yesterday," Dr. D. K. Mehta said after examining Gandhi this morning, 58 hours after the fast had started. "The tension and frequency of his pulse have increased. He had a fairly restful night. He spends most of his time in bed, occasionally sitting supported by his two granddaughters."

The doctor said he had been existing on mere water. He had not started using salt or soda bicarbonate.

Normandie Story: Sea Queen To Scrap Pile



The French liner Normandie, $62,000,000 sea queen, took four years to build, made her first Atlantic crossing in 1935 (top). When war came the vessel docked in New York harbor, to be refitted as a U.S. transport. But an accidental fire gutted the ship in 1942, and rolled her over on her side. Shorn of superstructure in salvage operations, the ship was raised 21 months later. Rebuilding proved too costly, so the Normandie's hull was sold to a scrap dealer last year. Now wreckers are nearing the end of their job and only part of the liner's hull remains (bottom).

India, Pakistan Leaders Join To Avert Civil War

NEW DELHI (AP) — Grave officials of India and Pakistan, which went their separate ways as British Commonwealth Dominions less than a month ago, today found themselves forced into joint efforts to prevent their people from precipitating a war between the two states.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Liaquat Ali Khan, Prime Ministers, respectively, of India and Pakistan, have just returned from a tour of the Punjab, where thousands have been killed in fanatical religious fighting since Aug. 10.

Nehru was told that in one Pakistan area of the Punjab there were only 1,500 known survivors from a community of 120,000 Sikhs and Hindus. Many had fled, but thousands of bodies littered the area, he was told.

A courier advised him that Indian troops were demanding an expedition into Pakistan in search of 6,000 young women they believed abducted by Moslems.

Against this background the two governments pledged themselves at Lahore Wednesday to attempt to restore order in the Punjab, to protect refugees, to evacuate and feed displaced persons, to repair desecrated religious places, to restore abducted women to their families and not to recognize illegal seizures of property.

Meanwhile, communal violence spread to Karachi, Pakistan's capital. A Pathan sentry of the frontier constabulary was arrested in the fatal shootings Wednesday night of two Sikhs, two Moslems and a Hindu at the Karachi R.A.F. station. A Sikh was stabbed to death in another part of the capital.

New Precautions By Ontario Banks

TORONTO (CP)—Banks in Ontario cities have installed burglar alarm systems and posted nightwatchmen as a result of recent bank robberies, it was learned today. The precautions were taken as a result of a series of emergency conferences between bank officials and municipal police chiefs.

Similar alarm systems are being installed in rural and suburban banks, but it was learned the Royal Bank of Canada branch at suburban Etobicoke had not been so equipped before it was robbed of about $1,000 in cash Tuesday by two bandits.

6 Escapees Caught

SAN ONOFRE, Calif. (AP)—Six escaped Marine corps prisoners, armed with two carbine rifles, were cornered in heavy brush on a beach near here today and captured after 20 minutes of gunplay. One prisoner was wounded. The prisoners, who escaped from Camp Pendleton Wednesday in a stolen truck, returned the fire of law enforcement officers and military police.

Checks Living Cost

TORONTO (CP) — A personal check of the Canadian cost-of-living is being made in Toronto today by P. J. Kennelly, Minister of Works in the Victoria Legislature, and Australian delegate to the conference here of the British Commonwealth Labor Parties.

The data, gathered in a window-shopping tour, will be used by Mr. Kennelly as an argument in favor of a referendum to be put before the Australian people next January on whether price control should be maintained indefinitely.

Canada's Heavy Water Atom Pile, World's Largest, To Be Available For Medicine

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada now has the biggest heavy water atomic energy pile in the world operating at Chalk River, Ont., Reconstruction Minister Howe disclosed today in amplifying plans to release radioactive by-products of the atomic plant for scientific and medical research.

He told a press conference that this major Canadian atomic oven had gone into operation last spring—the gradual development of the atomic process made the precise date indefinite—and was "twice as big" as the low-energy pile which Britain brought into operation last month.

Canada had had an experimental pile, similar to the British project, in operation for two years.

"Very minute tests had to be made to ensure that there was no leakage because once the pile was started nothing could be done about it," said Mr. Howe. "It was a tremendous job, but now it is in very successful operation."

OPEN NEW FIELD

The pile now was producing radioactive isotopes in quantity and as anounced simultaneously Wednesday night by the Canadian and United States governments, they would be released to experimenters to open "a whole new field of medical research."

A description of the isotopes and their uses came from Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, who said they would be used as tracer elements for studying diseases and the very secrets of life itself.

Likening the isotopes to "atoms with tail lights," Dr. Mackenzie said they could be injected into the human bloodstream and, because they emit radioactive rays, followed through the body with detectors.

Their greatest use might be in the detection and cure of cancer, for once, an isotope strikes a cancer in its progress through the body it centres there, serving as a warning light that there is unnatural growth.

At first, however, their use would be limited to medical research and not the treatment of human beings because "you can kill more people than you can cure." Later, when more fully understood, they could become a normal treatment.

A-Bomb Material Not For Sale

Mr. Howe said there would be no objection to selling isotopes to foreign countries, as was planned by the United States, and said that if a market for them developed Canada would be in that market, selling at world prices.

As for price, there was none as yet because this was the first commercial sale of the by-products, but Dr. Mackenzie hazarded a guess the rate might range from $1 to $100 a millicure—the unit of radiation—depending upon the type of isotope and its life expectancy.

LIFE PERIOD VARIES

He then explained that some isotopes had a life—their period of radioactivity—of only a half-day, but others might last 10 days. They were spoken of scientifically as having "half-life." This meant that an isotope might have full strength one day, half strength the next day, one-quarter strength the third day, one-eighth the fourth, and so on until radioactivity vanished.

Mr. Howe interjected that Canada would not be selling any plutonium, and Dr. Mackenzie smiled and said plutonium was "the guts of the whole thing—the stuff they make atomic bombs with."

The minister said scientists of the Chalk River plant were working on methods of transforming the energy of the atomic pile into industrial and other uses.

While he could not hazard a guess as to when this goal would be achieved, he said he would be "greatly disappointed if I don't see it used for industrial purposes before I die."

Announcement that Canada would make the radioisotopes available to Canadian doctors came in a brief statement which paralleled an announcement from St. Louis by President Truman.

The St. Louis announcement said the U.S. would offer all foreign countries limited amounts of 20 radioactive tracer elements from U.S. atomic ovens to speed international war against disease.

RUSSIA ON LIST

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission lists Russia among 24 countries which, it says, have made inquiry into the use of radioisotopes but have not filed specific orders for shipments from the U.S.

Among specific requests the commission has received from abroad is one from Brisbane, Australia, for 20 millicuries of phosphorous, 32 every two weeks for use in treatment of polycythemia vera and chronic leukemia.

Requests also have been received from Canada and Britain, it was disclosed.

200,000 Moslems Flee As Sikhs Continue Attacks

LAHORE (Reuter)—A 20-mile column of Moslem refugees, estimated at 200,000, has been straggling into the border town of Kasur, some 35 miles south of Lahore, since early Wednesday morning, and about a quarter of the column is still on its way.

The refugees are from the Sikh states of Faridkot, Patiala, Nasha and Jind in East Punjab.

Among them were said to be 2,000 persons wounded in Sikh attacks on the moving column. Doctors estimated the number who died exceeded the number of wounded reaching Kasur.

An appeal for Christian nurses and missionaries to go to Kasur was made by Diwan Bahadur S. P. Singha, Punjab Indian Christian leader, who said: "I cannot get the sight of the maimed, fiendishly wounded and acid-burnt from my mind."

A hospital equipped for 32 beds is caring for 750 surgical cases, all badly wounded.

Battles Continue In Dutch E. Indies Despite Cease-Fire

BATAVIA, Java (AP) — Gunfire tonight crackled along the front lines of Java and Sumatra as the first month of the cease-fire order, sponsored by the United Nations, ended. Not a day has passed in which both the Netherlands and Indonesians did not report new fighting.

Holland, for instance, reported 14 new clashes on the islands Wednesday and accused the Indonesians of systematically disturbing law and order in an attempt "to convince the outside world that the Dutch were incapable of maintaining peace and security."

The United Nations consular mission, which the Security Council ordered Aug. 25 to supervise the cease-fire order and report on it, is just now beginning its work.

Consuls-General Thomas Lambert of Great Britain and P. Vanderstichelen of Belgium will fly to the Republican capital of Jogjakarta tomorrow to establish personal contacts. The United States, French, Chinese and Australian consuls-general, the other members of the commission, previously had visited the inland city.

Holland has lost more than 400 killed, wounded and missing since the cease-fire order supposedly became effective at midnight Aug. 4. The Indonesians estimated their losses were 15 times as great.

Australia Lists Banned Imports

CANBERRA (AP) — Customs Minister Ben Courtice today announced 32 categories of goods, the importation of which has been banned in Australia as part of the dollar-saving drive.

The list ranges from washing machines to sporting goods, from rubber tires and tubes to many types of paper. No immediate estimate was available of the dollar saving, but it was included in the estimated $40,000,000 cut announced Tuesday.

Courtice indicated that other import restrictions might be imposed later.

The minister also announced that imports of other "miscellaneous" goods, including books, thermometers and canned fish from North America, would be reduced.

Australia is striving to balance her dollar budget, which has been running close to $85,000,000 annually, during the 1947-48 fiscal year.

Refuses To Attend Moscow's Birthday

MAYOR O'DWYER of New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Moscow would like Mayor William O'Dwyer to join in its 800th anniversary celebration this Sunday—but the mayor can't make it.

O'Dwyer today cabled G. Popov, chairman of the Moscow City Council of Working People's Deputies, who extended the invitation, that "pressure of official duties prohibits acceptance of your invitation."

In London Wednesday, Mayor Stanley Lewis and Aldermen Leonard Coulter and Wilbur Hamilton of Ottawa were reported ready to fly to Berlin, from where Russian aircraft would take them on to Moscow for the celebration.

Mayor Lewis said the Russian invitation provided a "grand opportunity" and that his party would stop briefly in Paris and Britain on its return.

Charged With Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Charged with theft of $17,225 from the McLean-Hunter Publishing Company, Ltd., Mrs. Dorothy Hodgins, 43, waived preliminary hearing and elected trial in a higher court when she appeared before Magistrate S. T. Bigelow today. Bail was renewed.

Mrs. Hodgins, employed as secretary to an editor of the company, was charged with stealing the money by inserting a number of false names in the company's record of contributing writers in 1942 and cashed vouchers she made out to the fictitious contributors over the next five years.

Official Death Toll Of Wreck On C.N.R. At Dugald Set At 31

DUGALD, Man. (CP) — The official toll of dead and missing in western Canada's worst railway disaster—the head-on, Labor Day-night collision of a Canadian National Railways vacation special and an east-bound transcontinental—stood today at 31.

There were indications this might be the final figure, although the list, issued by the C.N.R., lacked two names contained in revised private estimates, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dame, reported missing from their isolated Minaki, Ont., farm. Minaki was one of the Lake of the Woods resorts at which the Campers' Special had taken on passengers

FUNERALS HELD

Railway officials said, however a preliminary but thorough search of the ruins of the flame-swept 13-car special—the coaches were wooden—had disclosed 29 bodies, only two of which could be identified. Two others had died in or on the way to hospital in the Winnipeg area, 20 miles west of here.

Funeral services for all four identified victims were held this afternoon. The bodies of Mrs. Gertrude Simpson, 52, her daughters, Winnifreed, 26, and Betty, 17 were buried after a service in Winnipeg. The husband and father, Albert Simpson, is in hospital recovering from injuries. The body of G. R. Lewis, 63, engineer of the special, was buried after a service at Transcona, 10 miles west of here.

In Ottawa, G. A. Stone of the Board of Transport Commissioners investigating the collision, said the special should have taken to a siding east of this station, and "somebody was certainly at fault, but it is too soon for a full report."

He said also that the first report from the board's Winnipeg agent, J. G. Hoover, declared the special had come into Dugald at high speed without apparent reason.

(R.C.M.P. have announced they are holding Donald F. Ledlie, 55, of Dugald, a telegraph operator, on a coroner's warrant as a material witness.)

Greek Government Weathers Crisis; Nearing Another

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Constantin Tsaldaris' Populist (Royalist) cabinet weathered one crisis—a threatened civil service strike—today and neared another—a call for a parliamentary vote of confidence, scheduled for tonight.

The right-wing, one-party government controls only 141 of the 354 votes in parliament—37 less than a majority—and has been reported unsatisfactory to United States diplomats here, said to be desirous of a more broadly representative set-up.

Greek officials said that the government had granted pay rises of 25 to 50 per cent to some 72,000 civil servants and that the latter had called off a wage strike set for today.

The government was reported today to have decided to discharge 15,000 civil servants inside of six months in an economy move suggested by the American mission to aid Greece with $300,000,000 in supplies.

A civil service walkout could have stopped mail, telegraph communication and nearly all functions of the government, engaged in a fight with Communist-led guerrillas and threatened with collapse of its cabinet.

11-Mile Bike Race, 3-Mile Foot Race At Cowichan Labor Sports

COWICHAN LAKE—Sunny skies, a parade with colorful floats, a drill team display and various competitions all helped to mark this up-island community's Labor Day celebrations with success.

From the parade in the morning which opened the celebrations to the dance in the evening, there were events to attract the attention of all.

A highlight of the day was the bicycle race, which started at Paldi, 11 miles from Lake Cowichan, which was won by Lorne Atchinson of Vancouver in the time of 32 minutes and 47½ seconds. Mr. Atchinson had a blowout on the route and his partner, Ralph Cribbin, turned his bicycle over to him to complete the trip.

Ernie Wilson of Victoria was second, Eric Whitehead of Victoria third, Dave Cook of Vancouver fourth, Bob Caley of Victoria fifth, Guy Warren of Victoria sixth, Frank Wills of Victoria seventh, and Ralph Cribbin of Vancouver eighth.

Loggers' sports were a popular feature. The three-mile road race on foot was won by Don Wilson of Victoria, with Will Webb of Victoria second.

Victoria Boys' Band led the parade, followed by Cowichan Lake Cubs, the La-Ho-Me Girls' Drill Team and Lady of the Lake float. There were many gay floats and decorated bicycles with even the children taking part on tricycles.

Elaine, Eddie and Diane Gravelle, sister, brother and cousin, were awarded the silver cup for the best entry in the parade. They were in Mexican costume.

Crowned Lady of the Lake for 1947 was Ruby Tasa of Lake Cowichan. She was attended by Shirley Yates of Youbou and Barbara Cuthbert, representing Mesachie Lake and Honeymoon Bay. Delphine Williams, last year's Lady of the Lake, handed over her sceptre to Miss Tasa.

The La-Ho-Me Girls' Drill Team, who took their name from Lake Cowichan, Honeymoon Bay and Mesachie, the centres where the girls reside, gave a demonstration of their precision drill under direction of instructor Max Turner, recreational supervisor for the district. June Soderman of Mesachie Lake is captain of the 25-girl team, while Bertha Lowe and Ruth Beech are co-instructors.

Another highlight of the day's activities, which will now be an annual event, was the St. John Ambulance Association Cowichan Lake District Centre field day, held in the community hall.

Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, O.B.E., presented the trophies and prizes. Cups and individual prizes given to each member of each team were donated by B.C. Forest Products Ltd., at Youbou; Hillcrest Lumber Co., at Mesachie Lake; Western Forest Industries Ltd., at Honeymoon Bay, and Grosslegg and Trueman Ltd., Lake Cowichan.

Events and winners were as follows: First Victoria Ambulance Division, No. 65, captained by J. H. Smith, took the B. P. Schenger Cup for the senior men's event, and Western Forest Industries Ltd. team, captained by Ken Carpenter, took second prize.

Victoria Lumber Company, at Chemainus, with J. Ulinder captain, won the Department of Labor Shield, and B.C. Forest Products, Camp 6, under Len Heal, took second prize.

B.C. Forest Products team under captain Lall Booth took the Ralph Fuller Trophy, and Caycuse Camp, under Len Heal, second prize.

The General Walker Cup for the highest aggregate score for the Cowichan Lake District Centre went to E. Malbon's team of the B.C. Forest Products Caycuse Camp.

Junior Girls' Cowichan Lake District Centre Cup went to B.C. Forest Products Youbou Team, under captainship of Dolores Lankammer. Cumberland Centre Team, with Hilda Scavaroa, captain, was second.

Caycuse Camp, under Mrs. Malbon, took the Victoria Lumber Co. Cup in the senior women's event, with Lorne Drum Transport of Victoria second, under Mrs. Champion, captain.

Lorne Drum Transport took the Industrial Timber Mills Ltd. Cup, while B.C. Forest Products Ltd. at Youbou, with Mrs. K. Raynor, captain, placed second.

Quiet Hangs Over Kootenay Valley As Report Awaited

COMMISSIONER SHIRRAS

NELSON (CP) — Quiet today hung over the Kootenay Valley, which has for the past few weeks been the scene of one of the most fearful outbreaks of flaming destruction in the history of British Columbia.

The reign of terrorism apparently was called to a halt while the Sons of Freedom and orthodox Doukhobors tensely awaited a decision from the British Columbia government on a solution to the religious warfare between the two sects.

The government's ruling is expected to follow receipt of the 12 page report from Deputy Police Commissioner John Shirras, who conducted a week-long investigation of the Doukhobor strife. Commissioner Shirras was expected to arrive in Victoria today.

Contents of the report have not been released, but well-informed sources here believe the document will outline a long-range policy for curbing the activities of the Sons of Freedom group, held to be responsible for the depredations.

Apparently abandoning the torch as a method of conversion for the present, Sons of Freedom Wednesday issued fresh warnings to independent Doukhobors at Krestova, 25 miles northwest of here, to "openly join us or get out" of the hilltop headquarters of the "Sons."

The "Sons" were expected to demand an answer to their three-day ultimatum today.

Later reports from Glade, about 22 miles west of Nelson, said the "Sons" also staged a demonstration march there calling for recruits to their faith or "get out." No threats of burning were issued.

Space Ships Long Time Off; 5 Types Thought Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space ships capable of pouncing on any would-be aggressor are theoretically possible, but the United States has a long research road to travel before it can rely upon such celestial battlewagons, two scientists asserted today.

Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, director, and Dr. Daniel T. Sigley, a staff member of the Johns Hopkins University applied physics laboratory, said that producinng even simpler types of supersonic missiles demands conquering vast problems of propulsion, launching and guidance in an entirely new field of aerodynamics.

The laboratory is conducting guided missile research.

Hafstad said the only guided missiles now in "operational" existence are the American-developed gravity-powered "glide-bombs" and the German-devised V-2 type rocket projectile. But "good progress is being made" in research towards other weapons.

Sigley told a reporter these five devices are "theoretically possible" if scientists perfect the proper mechanisms of propulsion, launching and guidance:

1. "Satellite" vehicles, or space ships, launched at speeds capable of getting them beyond the earth's gravitation pull, where they would circle our planet, ready to effect destruction or do reconnaissance by remote control.

2. Missles that would plot their own course to an earthly objective by means of built-in telescopes and other equipment "tracking" on the stars, the moon and the planets.

3. Projectiles which could be made to follow celestial "highways" made by the invisible lines of magnetic force which surround the earth.

4. Guided missiles that would "ride" a radar beam to a target, or follow a course computed automatically within the missile after it had passed the converging point of two radio waves at some point in the sky.

5. Projectiles "homing" on a target by means of television or by means of heat waves given off by a target factory or ship.

Baseball Impostor Gets $5 Handout; Real 'Rube' Elsewhere

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard (Rube) Marquard, former New York Giants' pitcher, today said it was not he—but an imposter—who was arrested Wednesday in New York and later cleared of a disorderly conduct charge.

"It was a dreadful mistake," Marquard said when reached by telephone at Haddonfield, N.J., where he is employed as a mutuel clerk at the nearby Garden State Track.

Marquard, the diamond hero who won 19 straight games for the Giants in 1912, said he had worked at race tracks for 17 years in Maryland, Florida and New Jersey.

"I work the $50 window," Marquard said, "and you can't drink when you work that one."

A man booked as Richard Marquard was one of 18 men arrested in the Bowery Wednesday and accused of loitering. When he was brought into night court, Magistrate Charles Murphy asked: "Aren't you the famous 'Rube'?"

The man replied that he was. When the magistrate asked if he had any money the man replied: "Not a cent, your honor."

The magistrate took $5 out of his pocket, handed it to the man, wished him luck and dismissed the charge.

Brit ish Trades Union Congress Upholds Bevin's Policy On U.S.

SOUTHPORT, Lancs., Eng. (AP)—The Trades Union Congress today adopted a resolution commending the services of Foreign Secretary Bevin, but it rejected overwhelmingly an amendment asking the government to establish mutually beneficial trade relations with Russia and "to resist pressure of dollar diplomacy."

The tribute to Bevin, expressed by a show of hands, was regarded as especially significant in view of recent charges by some members of the Labor Party that he was swinging his policy too sharply to the right.

It reflected, too, the generally favorable reception given in this country to this speech of Wednesday calling for a Commonwealth customs union and a redistribution of U.S. gold reserves.

The resolution urged Bevin to continue his efforts to unify and solidify the democratic countries of Europe so that their economic structure could be rebuilt.

After two speakers had predicted economic disaster for Britain "when the American slump comes," J. Haworth, a Labor member of Parilament, was cheered when e appealed for an independent British foreign policy tied neither to the United States nor to Russia.

John Horner, fire brigades union delegate who moved the amendment, asserted:

"It is essential that we should renew immediately our trade discussions with the Soviet Union, yet such arrangements are made difficult unless we can throw off the United States grip."

"The aim of American finance," he continued, "is to smash the American labor movement and also to smash this movement."

General Manager Denies McArthur Discontented In CBC

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail today quoted Dr. Augustin Frigon, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, as saying that as far as he was aware, D. C. McArthur, chief editor of the CBC news service, had resigned "in order to devote himself to his art."

The Globe quoted Dr. Frigon as denying in a telephone interview from Montreal "any knowledge of discontent or internal trouble in the CBC," which might have led to the resignation of Mr. McArthur, announced Wednesday night.

In Toronto, E. L. Bushnell, CBC director-general of programs, also disclaimed knowledge of reasons for Mr. McArthur's action. He declined to comment.

Mr. McArthur said Wednesday night he would make a statement "probably within a week."

The Globe and Mail quoted Dr. Frigon as saying Mr. McArthur's letter of resignation, effective Sept. 30, "contained no hint of trouble or discontent."

Abbott Declines Comment On Bevin's New Proposals

ABOARD QUEEN ELIZABETH AT SEA (via Radiotelephone to New York) (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, en route to next week's meetings in London of the international monetary fund and the World Bank, declined today to comment on world financial problems on the grounds that he literally was "at sea" and out of touch with international affairs.

Replying in a telephone interview to questions put to him by the Canadian Press on matters raised Wednesday by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Great Britain in a speech at Southport, Eng., among them a proposal for a Commonwealth customs union, the Canadian Finance Minister fired a series of "no-comment" replies as the questions were put to him.

Mr. Abbott said that Canada, as far as he knew, never had expressed any views about establishment of a customs union embracing the Dominions and colonies of the British Commonwealth. As to what such a plan would mean to Canada if it were put into effect, or how it would work, the minister reserved his views until he obtains the text of Bevin's speech.

The minister, who sailed from New York Wednesday, expressed no interest in speculation voiced in some quarters in Canada that, as a result of Bevin's speech, she now is at the crossroads of her economic future, with a rift developing between the sterling and dollar blocs.

He did not expect to attend the London conference called by Britain to discuss the pooling of dollar resources as a means of meeting their mutual dollar problems.

He thought this conference would be of direct interest only to the Dominions and colonies, such as Australia, South Africa and the Pacific colonies, now trading in the sterling area. Canada and Newfoundland, he noted, are dollar-area countries.

Mr. Abbott is being accompanied to the London meetings, Sept. 10-18, by Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister of Finance. Other traveling companions are John W. Snyder, United States Secretary of the Treasury, and Latin-American delegates to the international bank and monetary fund conferences.

The Canadian minister did not comment on Bevin's suggestion that the United States should redistribute its gold stock buried at Fort Knox, Ky. In this he was agreeing with Snyder, who said Wednesday before sailing from New York: "I'm being very calm about it—no comment."

White Whale Plant Planned In Manitoba

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Canada's first commercial white whale industry is scheduled for establishment next summer in and near Hudson Bay, with some 600 white whales to be taken for processing into oils, meal and leather, it was learned here today.

Named New Horizons Exploration Company, the firm has been granted permission by the federal department of fisheries to operate in the sub-Arctic waters of Hudson Bay. A processing plant and equipment essential in the industry probably will be built near Churchill, Man.

Ten per cent of the catch will go for biological study as well as commercial investigation of the industry.

High quality food for fur farms in western Canada as well as leather, soap and oil for precision instruments, will be obtained.

Capt. Bidwell Goes To Post At Defence College, Kingston

OTTAWA — The appointment of Capt. Roger E. S. Bidwell, C.B.E., R.C.N., of Halifax, as naval member of the directing staff of the National Defence College at Kingston, Ont., was announced today at Naval Service headquarters.

Since early this year Capt. Bidwell has been in the United Kingdom attending the Imperial Defence College. He returned to Canada in August and will assume his new appointment Sept. 1.

Capt. Bidwell has been with the Royal Canadian Navy since 1915, when he entered the Royal Naval College of Canada at Halifax. He was born in Peterborough, Ont., but received much of his early education at Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, Que., where his father, later Anglican Archbishop of Ontario, was headmaster. He also attended St. Alban's School, Brockville, Ont.

He served in the First World War on board the British battleship, Canada. Between wars his duties included command of two Canadian destroyers, the Champlain and the St. Laurent. He attended the Naval Staff College at Greenwich, Eng., in 1938.

In February, 1946, Capt. Bidwell was appointed director of the Naval Air Division at Naval Service headquarters, an appointment he held until leaving for the United Kingdom early this year.

Capt. Bidwell's war services were recognized by the award of the C.B.E. in June, 1946, for "continued initiative, zeal, accuracy and understanding." A month previously the United States had awarded him the Legion of Merit, Degree of Officer.

Alberni To Sell Standing Timber

ALBERNI — Decision to call for bids on 2,000,000 feet of standing timber within the city was made by the Alberni city council Tuesday night.

Bids accompanied with a guarantee of half price are to be in by noon Sept. 10. Remainder of the price is to be set at government scale. The timber's value is estimated at about $12,000.

Narrowly Escapes Death By Drowning

PORT ALBERNI—John Simms, Alberni, narrowly escaped drowning at 4 Monday afternoon when he swallowed water while swimming off Smith's Landing at Sproat Lake, near here.

An unknown bystander swam out and brought Simms to shore, where he was given artificial respiration by people on shore.

Dr. C. Pitts and Fire Chief W. Venables were called, but Sims was revived when they reached the lake. Simms spent Monday night in West Coast Hospital but was released Tuesday morning.

It is believed he slipped from a log boom onto which he was climbing.

Alberni Girl Tops In Track Meet At Nanaimo

PORT ALBERNI — Lorraine Donovan, Alberni, won B.C. championship laurels in the 60-metre dash at the Labor Day track and field meet at Nanaimo.

Running the distance in eight seconds, Miss Donovan nosed out Eleanor McKenzie, Vancouver, who established a B.C. record for the distance of 7.9 seconds at Brockton Point Oval several weeks ago. The original record of eight seconds was set in 1932 by Hazel Sutherland, South Vancouver A.C.

Coach Jack Sweeney states Miss Donovan will be entered in future meets at Vancouver and is prospective material for the B.C. Olympic team.

Former Freight Service Owner Dies At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Dave Walker, 50, former owner of the West Coast Freight Service Ltd., died here Tuesday night after a lengthy illness.

Surviving are his wife Hilma, and two sons, Carl and Jack, all of Port Alberni.

Mr. Walker was widely known for his part in community affairs and was deeply interested in welfare of children. He was a past exalted ruler of the local Elks' Lodge and a former Rotarian. Well-known on the Upper Island, he was born on the east coast, north of Parksville. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Alberni Wants Pulp Mill Stench Minimized

ALBERNI — An objectionable chemical odor pervading this city from trial operations at the nearby new Bloedel, Stewart and Welch Co. pulp mill drew concern of the Alberni council Tuesday.

The council will write officials of the pulp mill asking that all steps possible be taken to combat the stench.

"We want industry here," said Mayor C. C. Cocks, and commented that perhaps the odor would be lessened when the mill is in full operation.

Health Chairman Ald. D. Watson mentioned several cases of residents in ill-health being nauseated by the fumes.

It was pointed out by City Clerk A. Taylor that pulp mill officials have given assurance in a letter that the odor is harmless but that all steps will be taken to minimize it.

MR. BEVIN LIGHTS A FUSE

EVEN THE CONSERVATIVE LONDON Daily Mail was evidently pleased with the tone and content of the speech which Rt. Hon. Ernest Bevin delivered to the Trade Unions Congress in Southport yesterday. That widely-read morning paper categorically declared that the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs displayed remarkable "leadership and statemanship," that he was "a big man before he made his speech," but when he had finished it "he was bigger." It would be unfair and not in keeping with the British mood at this stage in a long history to suggest that this laudatory comment from a journal implacably opposed to the present government's policy of nationalization might be a hint for Mr. Attlee's consideration.

Naturally enough American newspaper and political reception of the Foreign Secretary's intimation, that the time had arrived for the United States to consider seriously what she might do toward the economic rehabilitation of the world by disgorging a goodly portion of her vast hoard of gold now idle at Fort Knox, is varied in the extreme. Until the full impact of this brave plan for universal recovery has been considered by unbiased experts it would be foolish for the layman to attempt to look behind the veil of even such an apparently simple solution to the world's ills as that which obviously has caused a flutter in more than one capital.

We get a glimpse of the imponderables inherent in so blunt a demand from the opinion expressed by the London Financial Times—an authority, by the way, that invariably reflects the opinion of "the city"—which sees the Foreign Secretary's idea as one of "little practical value." This point of view, coming as it does from London's financial district's holy of holies, nevertheless tempers its somewhat skeptical allusion with an intimation that a broad statement of policy of this nature will be of little value unless it is followed up by concrete plans. Well and good; moreover, when the Financial Times further lays down the dictum that Britain must know what is expected of it, "industry by industry, factory by factory, and individual by individual," it betrays an impatient mood which implies rejection of the idea projected by Mr. Bevin.

Although we are told that the Foreign Secretary's concept of a new formula for intra-Empire trade is being received somewhat placidly, but with enthusiasm in some quarters and mild approval tempered with caution in others, it should be noted that this radical proposal—especially coming from an influential member of the Socialist government—was not intended to reflect the official opinion of Mr. Attlee's administration. Mr. Bevin, on the contrary, made it clear that the views he expressed in this regard were his own, and that he was not speaking for the Labor cabinet.

The elimination of all tariffs in respect of Commonwealth trade would mean higher tariffs against goods which Britain must import from non-Commonwealth nations to survive economically. Even a hint of a revived discussion on the merits or demerits of the late Joseph Chamberlain's "Imperial Zollverein" would be the signal for a new and bitter debate to which the British electorate gave its quietus so effectively and thoroughly in the general election of 1906. But if the Foreign Secretary did nothing else by his utterance at Southport yesterday, he may have lighted the fuse that will probably explode a good many ideas which the present economic condition of the world has shown to be antiquated and impracticable.

A JOB WELL DONE

IN ALL COUNTRIES WHICH RESPECT the courage of men who go down to the sea in ships, the story of blockade-running in the Skagerrak during the Second World War will stir a new appreciation of valor. The history of these "little ships," told in a British government booklet, is one to inspire young men, and one that can take its place in the volume of high heroism that is the record of centuries of seafaring tradition.

What the activities of these dauntless crews, running the gauntlet of enemy patrols and threading their ways through minefields, meant to the war effort requires little elaboration. From Sweden they brought vital materials, and in the transport of those supplies they risked their lives continually. Not for them was the protection of heavy armament or the naval escort. They operated in secret, depending on the sturdiness of their small craft and the ability of their officers and men to see them through on the moonless nights of winter.

Their successes wrote a glowing chapter in marine history during wartime. Their merchant navy personnel and regular navy directors have cut for themselves a niche that bears favorable comparison to those carved by other intrepid seamen in days when ships were small. That a Canadian lake vessel joined in analogous work brings their service closer to the hearts of people in this Dominion. It is fitting now, when secrecy is no longer required, to pay them a just tribute for a job well done.

CALL FOR ACTION

CITIZENS OF VICTORIA, WHO ARE only too conscious of the inclination to let certain issues lag, will view with enthusiasm Mayor Percy George's demand from the City Council for by-laws with "teeth" in them to enforce a clean-up in the wood dumps of this city. For over two years, the mayor has been receiving complaints from taxpayers over the conditions which exist where fuel is stored. He is only too familiar with the objection residents of adjoining property voice to the presence of these unsightly and unhealthful yards bordering their holdings.

That they encourage the rat population of the city and create a serious fire hazard seems obvious. And the mayor is quite right in calling for adequate regulations to require users of such storage space to remedy the evil they have created.

But the mayor's remarks to his council colleagues go beyond the question of improving woodyard conditions. They sound a definite indictment of a practice familiar to all who have given council affairs study—the policy of "burying" issues in committee. It is conceivable that aldermanic debate has already suggested means of overcoming the difficulty in relation to this particular problem. And it is equally conceivable that constructive efforts have lost their effectiveness in the limbo of committee consideration—a condition for which the members of the standing civic groups are responsible.

All interested in the elimination of health and fire menaces will hope the mayor succeeds in his drive for action on the wood lots. And the citizens will hope, too, that this example will relieve committees of the charge of providing a mausoleum for other projects which appear destined to be forever abstract.

OPEN INVITATION

ONE of the first peacetime rewards from man's explorations into the secret of atomic energy is revealed in the announcement by President Truman that a score of radio-active materials will be made available to the nations of the world. The radio-active isotopes, a product of the atomic ovens which also produce the basic essentials of the atomic bomb, will find a wide and important use in medical research, particularly in the search for a cancer cure. They have been authoritatively described as "the most important medical research tool since the development of the microscope."

The presence of the rays thrown off by radio-active substances can be easily detected, even in minute amounts. When these substances are combined in food or drug compounds they retain their state of activation. Consequently their course through a human or animal body or a plant may be traced with great exactitude. Such a "tell-tale" indicator is of inestimable value in the study of diseases, growth and life processes in general. The hospitals and laboratories of the world will now have such substances available in workable quantities. Heretofore they have been produced only in extremely small amounts and at a very high price. The atomic ovens have radically changed the situation.

Canada, like other countries, will receive a number of the isotopes from the United States. In addition she will provide some radio-active materials herself, as announced by Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe last night. The doctors and specialists who receive the materials will be required to pool all their discoveries arising from use of the isotopes, and in this way provide a world-wide approach to the problems of disease which afflict mankind. Here is an open invitation from science for global co-operation in a common fight. It is one which should be crowned with a full measure of success.

TOWARD COMPLETION

VICTORIANS GENERALLY WILL BE happy to learn that plans for Christ Church Cathedral are again being taken up and preparations made to carry them through to completion. The two west towers will be finished, a chapel added, and other construction continued along the lines of the original plan of the late J. C. M. Keith. It has been decided, however, to omit the plans for a central tower.

Even in its present uncompleted state the Cathedral, situated as it is on a slope overlooking the city and surrounded by the stately trees of its grounds and adjacent Pioneer Square, is an edifice of which the city may well be proud. It will be doubly so when it attains its final magnificence. The Cathedral towers will be a land mark visible from almost any part of Greater Victoria and far out to sea. As such their gray stone bulwarks will be symbolic of the purpose of the building—a gathering place for the faithful as well as a monument to that which they hold most highly. The Cathedral authorities will have the best wishes of the residents of this city in their efforts to bring the plans to completion.

Union By Federation

By ROBERT BURON

(Member of the French National Assembly)

IN ENGLAND, as in France, the idea of a United Europe has been gaining considerable ground for several months.

Before the war, it must be admitted, the great dream of a United States of Europe, formulated by Aristide Briand, had been looked upon as a mere chimera by the majority of Frenchmen and had been opposed in England. For several years the broadcast slogans of Hitler discredited even the idea of Europe. And it was only natural that the Liberation should provoke a new wave of nationalism in all the occupied countries.

However, the suffering that all the countries in Europe are experiencing today, in different degrees but for the same reasons, has brought about a natural change of attitudes. The interdependence of the various European economies is obvious for all Europeans who are sufficiently resigned to see that, for rich and powerful America, it is not reasonable, indeed it is not possible to think of a Norwegian problem, a Czech problem, an Italian problem, but only of a European problem.

IT WAS CHURCHILL who first raised the cry for a United Europe. The trade federation formed by Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, and known as Benelux, was the first real step toward that goal. In all European countries movements and groups are being formed to support the common idea, and the recent declarations of General Marshall should convince even the most skeptical of our contemporaries that the ideal of Artistide Briand can be transformed into concrete reality tomorrow.

To unite Europe is of course a noble aim for the governments of the modern nations and worthy of their ambition. But as soon as thely realize the stages through which they must pass, the difficulties they must surmount, the opposition they must overcome, they feel overwhelmed by their responsibilities and paralyzed by the size of the task. It is easy to agree on the aim. To determine the means is not so simple.

ONLY THE FEDERALISTS have any definite ideas on how it should be done. They have been advocating the union of the European nations ever since Proud'hon, but that is not their only ideal . . . and many of those who preach European unity know nothing of federalist principles. This is not surprising. When a good idea is about to triumph, those who rally to its support last are generally the noisiest and those who have worked for it for years are quickly forgotten.

The Federalists base their arguments on two essential principles. On the one hand they think that many difficulties would be avoided if the large groups did not try to solve problems on which the members of the groups differ. The increased importance of the role of the State in the last 150 years has aggravated political dissension among the nations because it means that problems of education, security, hygiene, etc. are solved on a State scale and that economic, social and agricultural regulations affect the whole nation.

IN FRANCE, for example, the rural population of the West and those of the South-East have different, often opposed, customs and philosophical attitudes. This presents no problems as long as questions are settled at the stage of the community, the province or the region. Dissension begins when a law is imposed on the whole of the country at the insistence of some and at the expense of others.

The first principle of Federalism is to let the local, family and occupational groups, in other words the secondary groups, live their own lives with a maxium of initiative and responsibility.

The second principle, on the other hand, is never to despair of the possibilities of compromise. When a difficulty arises between two or several groups, do not let it grow worse. Set up common organizations which will endeavour to reconcile the points of view; substitute arbitration among those concerned for the latent conflict that can only be settled by force.

IN THE LAST ANALYSIS, Federalism implies a series of autonomous groups united by flexible bonds into more powerful groups and these in turn federated into a general union. When a difficulty presents itself it is either inside a group or outside it. If it is inside, the solution consists in leaving each unit of the group to surmount the difficulty by itself. When the problem is outside the group, all the groups concerned should work together to solve it.

To unite Europe on federalist lines would of course entail reconciling the viewpoints of the various European nations and asking all of them to make an effort toward mutual understanding. It would also require each European nation to strive for decentralization in its own affairs. The modern State, which is too powerful, is in fact the principle obstacle to the union of nations. Claiming to settle everything within the nation, it cannot conceive of submitting to the will of others in international affairs. A united Europe can only be a federation of federations.

There's nothing worse than being photographed with your mouth open. — Lady Nancy Astor, former member of British Parliament.

The American crisis is problematical, that of Europe exists. The first would be a crisis of over-production, the latter is a crisis of penury.—Georges Bidault, French Foreign Secretary.

'Well, You Wanted The Job, Didn't You?'

A Chorus—Not a Part Song

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

SOME months ago Britain's New Statesman and Nation burst into a paean of exultation over the success of the Labor government's administration. Said the New Statesman:

"In 1946 new houses were built almost exclusively for those who needed them most—the working classes; interest rates were forced down for the benefit of the local authorities and to the detriment of the rentiers; milk was drunk daily by every schoolchild depriving the better-off of their cream and Stilton cheese. In brief, there was a Labor government in power, elected primarily by the wage earner and acting primarily in his interest."

We have no intention of making any point against Mr. Attlee's government because, for all that it may have been acting primarily in the worker's interests, that worker has had to pull his belt still tighter and learn of new things that he can do without. Very possibly any other government would have faced just such unpleasant limitations and necessities. The point we are interested in arguing is the erroneous assumption that only a Labor government could be expected to act in the interests of the wage earner, because their interests are so sharply at variance with the interests of the investor or the consumers of Stilton cheese.

IN THE SAME BOAT

These few months later it has become rather clearly apparent that both the worker and the Stilton cheese eater are in the same perilous boat, and that all the benefits that the New Statesman assumes have fallen to the lot of the worker have not changed the urgency of the situation for either. If statistics speak truth, the worker who has benefited most, hasn't shown any particularly ardent desire to repay the benefit by added effort. This is not the fault of the Labor government that has done its part. If there is any fault on the part of the worker it is probably due, as Mr. Morrison has said, to the fact that he "has dozed off into a sort of day dream," lulled by the unfounded belief that the resources of the once-monied class can assure recovery, along with the Utopia of more benefits for less effort.

Now, with lack of time, lack of dollars, lack of food staring Britain in the face, her leaders are desperately trying to arouse the bemused worker to the crucial nature of his country's plight.

NO CLASS STRUGGLE

But what should be made plain is that this isn't a class struggle. It is a struggle for the survival of a world that has suffered a desperate illness and still is not too certain of recovery. It cannot be remedied by inverting the pyramd or by changing the authority. It is obvious that, under such circumstances many remedies will be tried, some good, some bad, some offering hope of temporary benefit. But it would be idle to argue that this is the time or that these are the circumstances to assess essential values. This is the time to take whatever measures seem most advisable to assure the patient a return to health. Only people or peoples sound in mind and body are capable of sound decisions.

So, in this time of extreme measures it might be wise for free enterprise to accept with a good grace whatever trends may develop, realizing that in serious illness desperate remedies may be indicated. But equally it might be salutary, for those who might accept the New Nation's statements with unthinking enthusiasm, to scan the world and to ask themselves if it is not true that it is the nations that offer to all men the greatest freedom to secure his cream or his Stilton cheese or his profits, that are also the places where the workers have the best homes and children the most milk.

Whether They Like It Or Not

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

A RECENT cartoon by the Englishman David Low shows three acrobats performing a balancing trick before President Truman and Secretary Marshall. The acrobats are labeled "Ruhr Coal Talks," "German Industry Talks" and "British Dollar-payment Talks." Mr. Low captioned his cartoon, "All Belonging to One Act." His acrobats look confident and smiling, but it is evident that if one of them loses his hold, all three will go sprawling.

Mr. Low could have been more accurate by picturing Mr. Truman and Mr. Marshall as performers rather than spectators. For, as representatives of the American people, they are definitely and inescapably in the act.

NOT AS PLANNED

That is not how the postwar European act was planned. It seemed two years ago that the United States might provide some financial backing and friendly co-operation and advice. But Russia changed all that.

By division and delay, but obstructing almost every European move toward unity, stability and prosperity, the Soviet Union has changed the American role from that of onlooker to that of bottom man in a human pyramid.

The bottom man cannot walk out without the whole structure coming down. The balance of the European partners on his shoulders is unsure. But the man on the bottom has no choice but to stand firm and offer the best support he can. Maybe he does not like his part. But what can he do about it?

A lot of Americans obviously don't like their country's assignment in European affairs today. They don't like the British. They don't like socialism. They don't see why they have to keep on paying high taxes while money is poured into Europe.

UNPALATABLE ALTERNATIVE

But most of these people don't like the idea of a Soviet-dominated Europe, either. If they can show the government in Washington a sound way by which America can prevent such domination and still remain uninvolved in European affairs, the government would surely be most grateful.

The British are having all they can do to keep their economy alive. They may have to pull out of Germany as they did out of Greece, unless their money and manpower troubles are eased.

Surely it is good sense for the U.S. to try to keep Britain on the job there as a partner, even if a weak one, and to help her domestic recovery as the principal bulwark against Communism in Europe.

MUST USE RUHR

The Ruhr certainly must be utilized. Europe cannot be expected to help itself toward recovery until its greatest industrial section is more than one-third productive. Whether the Ruhr's resources are to be used by France or under control of an international group remains to be worked out.

As for German industry, it seems inevitable now that it must be revived and carefully controlled. This isn't the way things were originally planned, either. But again Russia has changed the picture. Germany's big food-production region has passed into Russian hands. So until western Germany can produce and export enough to pay for its own food, much of that food must be bought with American money.

There has been much talk of American bipartisan foreign policy, which is an excellent thing. But what also seems to be needed is a bipartisan, national realization that the United States is in Europe and has got to stay until recovery and stability are realities.

Smoothing Bumps

U.K. Information Office

British European Airways are to tackle the most serious problem of high altitude flying—the sudden patches of violently turbulent air encountered at over 25,000 feet. Two Mosquito aircraft will be used for this research work, which will begin early in the autumn. The Mosquitos are now being equipped with the necessary radio and radar installations and test instruments, in particular an accelerometer to measure the response of the aircraft to the "gusts." The first flights will take place over the United Kingdom but the aircraft will later fly to various capitals of the Continent along regular B.E.A. routes.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

GROUND FOR ANXIETY — although not surprising—is State Under-Secretary Lovett's report in Washington that Europe's economic crisis is developing much faster than expected and that the United States may have to take some kind of emergency action before the end of the year.

Representative Brooks Hays, Arkansas Democrat, just back from a European tour, pinned the thing down more closely. He told reporters that in all probability it will be necessary for the United States Congress to meet before January "assuming that the Marshall plan will take shape by that time and that we will have something definite and substantial to work on."

Lovett attributes the speedy worsening of the situation to two main causes: 1. The effects of the British economic crisis have been very contageous, he believes. 2. Many countries have had to divert their resources from production to such non-productive purchases as foodstuffs. In this connection their troubles have been added to by such afflictions as floods and droughts. There also has been mismanagement.

It is true that one bad apple in the bin passes on its decay to others. It also is true that nature has played sorry pranks on the stricken continent. The grain crops in virtually all countries except Russia have been reduced by drought.

The over-all picture is a grim one. The three main supports of the prewar European structure—Britain, France and Germany—are badly crippled. The smaller states, who used to depend so heavily on the patronage of the now wounded giants, are struggling along on their own, but there has been little or no co-ordination of effort among them.

Apart from humanitarian aspects, there are two reasons why the United States has seen fit to try to help Europe to its feet:

1. Economic experts assure us that a continuation of the crisis must inevitably precipitate an economic depression in the western hemisphere.

2. The crisis is a breeder of war. This is true because distress and weakness are rendering many unhappy countries susceptible to conquest by aggressive Communism. The longer the crisis lasts, the better the chances for the Red ism to spread. The more it spreads, the greater the danger of global war.

MOVING BY AIR

Exchange

An Englishman wanted to move his furniture from France to Britain and the removal firms which he approached said that they could do the move in three months. So he hired a Miles Aerovan and the entire removal was completed by air in 36 hours. An additional advantage was that the insurance premium was only one-third of the sum normally charged for the land and sea route. The furniture, in this case, weighed a little less than a ton.

SALMON LAND-LOCKED

Norway Digest

Prized Norwegian salmon, so avidly fished by anglers from nearly every corner of the world are now being caught by local youngsters — with their bare hands at that. It so happens that the hard-to-get salmon—some of them weighing up to 60 pounds—are now marooned in shallow pools left in otherwise dry river beds. Unusual heat in southern and eastern Norway temporarily has dried up many of the best salmon streams, and the neighborhood boys are taking full advantage of the situation.

ENJOY OR ENDURE

Washington Post

There is no use in trying to reconcile lovers of spring and lovers of fall. They are as different a species as those who rise early and those who rise late. Each secretly looks down on the other. Spring's adherents think autumn's addicts are hard, bustling, insensitive and unromantic. Fall's cohorts think of the spring crowd as rather trivial and artistically immature, as sentimental, mushy and lacking get-up. But the fact that this eternal argument goes on should cause all Americans to rejoice. It is proof of the importance of the changing seasons, which so largely explain American vigor and achievement. Much of the incentive for American progress has come from overhauling, reconditioning, and adaptation each new season demands of those who either enjoy it or endure it.

What is the Secret of Family Health

One family is always healthy. In the next family there seems to always be someone sick.

Why?

It used to be customary to blame this condition on heredity.

But recent investigations show that far more depends on living and eating habits.

The underlying cause of low vitality is often traceable to a lack of vitamin B_1 and essential minerals derived from the food consumed.

As a result whole families may be found to be subject to a low condition of health which leaves them prey to serious and annoying ailments.

More and more intelligent thinking people are learning to depend on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a "pick-me-up" to help them out of a low condition of vitality.

It is usually the mother in the home who is largely responsible for the family health and most mothers know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and what it can do to help restore richness to the blood and vigor to the nervous system.

In most families, these days, there are excesses of work, worry and anxiety which overtax the nerves and cause headaches, irritability, loss of sleep and indigestion.

But these troubles do not need to get you down if you let Dr. Chase's Nerve Food help you.

School age children who have become pale, weak, languid and anaemic are soon helped back to robust health by the use of this tonic treatment for the blood and the nerves.

Ask your druggist for the economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Trades Council Asks Ottawa To Restore Butter Rationing

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, alarmed at the rising cost of butter, Wednesday night called on the federal government to reinstitute rationing.

Endorsing a resolution of the Calgary Trades and Labor Council, the Victoria group supported the following four-point program:

1. Reinstitution of butter rationing.

2. Reinstitution of butter subsidies by the federal government similar to those paid during the war.

3. Direct control of butter exports.

4. Reimposition of restrictions on production of ice cream in Canada, similar to those in operation during the war.

Five delegates were named by the council to attend the annual convention of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to be held in Hamilton, Ont., starting Sept. 24. The delegates are: A. P. Rayment, representing the Carpenters' Union; G. A. Wilkinson, Retail Clerks' Union; Charles Peck, Electricians' Union; Margaret Burgoyne, Boilermakers' Union, and Charles Davis, carpenters.

Stressing the importance of the convention in Hamilton, Mayor Percy George urged the Victoria delegates to use their wisdom and judgment in the deliberations and stressed the importance of the part of the trade unions in the economic and social structure of the nation. Mayor George expressed confidence that the Victoria delegation would uphold the prestige of Victoria trade unions and wished delegates every success in their efforts.

H. Yetman submitted a detailed report on the functions of community welfare and stressed the need for workers to take a greater interest in their community centres.

F. Marshall, W. V. McCord and J. H. Driscoll were seated as delegates for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and George English and Philip Nelson as delegates for the International Longshoremen's Association.

New Blood Test For Cancer Shown

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A blood test for early detection of cancer, which has shown strikingly quick and accurate results in animals, has just been disclosed by Dr. Louis Herly of Columbia University.

It is being tested on human beings with results yet inconclusive he said, but there is hope it may be valuable. The chances of curing cancer are greatest if it is caught early.

Dr. Herly is demonstrating the test in exhibits at the fourth international Cancer Research Congress. He examines blood under ultra-violet light, so filtered that only the invisible or "black light" rays of ultraviolet come through the lamp.

Normal blood shines brightly or fluoresces, and appears turbid or murky under the black light, he said. But blood of animals with cancer does not show any fluorescence or murkiness.

Some substance in the blood which fluoresces apparently is taken out of the blood when cancer begins to grow, Dr. Herly said. Whether this substance goes to the site of the tumor is not yet known.

He injected some cancer cells under the skin of animals known to get cancer after such injections.

The blood test detected cancer almost surely within 20 hours after the injections, and detected it with definite sureness within 43 hours, he said.

Future work will determine whether the test works efficiently in human beings.

Plenty Of Sugar; No Price Increase

EDMONTON (CP)—Regional Prices Board officials announced today there is plenty of sugar and the price is not due to increase. Unfounded rumors had caused wild buying splurges in Edmonton retail stores and grocery wholesales in the last four days.

As housewives Saturday went on the biggest sugar-buying spree on record, city retailers and wholesalers were cleaned out.

The rumor is believed to have sprung from announcements of butter and cream price increases and sugar ration increases were made simultaneously.

Return Russ Soldier

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United States army officials declined today to comment on a charge by the Tass news agency that a Russian officer had been held in the American zone since June 7.

When the case of three Americans held in the Russian zone came up last month, however, authorities said the Americans had returned promptly all Soviet soldiers who strayed into the U.S. zone, including at least one deserter.

Oak Bay Rejects Suggestion For Industrial Zones

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening rejected a suggestion that manufacturing zones might be established within the municipal boundaries.

Councillor George Murdoch started off the discussion by saying there were at present three manufacturing firms within the municipality—one manufacturing candy, another automobiles, and a third, furniture.

All three, he believed, were assets to Oak Bay, and he wondered if the present by-law, by which Oak Bay seeks to keep itself a residential district, could not be amended to create manufacturing zones.

R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, said the furniture and auto firms had been advised they were contravening the law. The original idea of the by-law, he said, was to keep Oak Bay a residential area.

Certain mechanical devices were allowed within the municipality, such as those needed for garages and shoe repairing, he continued, adding later that "there was an instance of a man wanting to make up a sandwich-making business . . . of course, that is only a minor thing, but sometimes these minor things spread."

The by-law does allow machinery for carpentry, and so far as that was concerned, the council found itself in a quandary as to where the line lay in the difference between carpentering and furniture manufacturing.

However, the council finally agreed it did not want manufacturing within its limits. Councillor G. Ellis said "I think it's just as wise to let sleeping dogs lie."

Mr. Blandy pointed out that Victoria was wide open to that sort of activity and that "we encourage them to go there." Councillor C. C. Annett believed the best thing was not to regard the three concerns discussed as manufacturing establishments and to carry on as at present.

Reeve Walter Walker, who also expressed his opposition, remarked the council seemed willing to let the matter "ride."

Oak Bay To Remove Tracks In Uplands

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening approved removal of the streetcar tracks in the Uplands district and will seek a quitclaim from the Crown on their removal.

A letter from W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., advised the council that, following discontinuance of street railway operations in that area, the tracks become the property of the municipality. The council's problem was as to actual ownership of the land on which the rails lay, and so is seeking the quitclaim from the Crown.

The trackage in question is located on Dunlevy Street, north of a point designated by a road block established at Burdock Avenue intersection, to and including the Uplands loop at Midland Circle.

Building New Saanich Firehall

Just beyond Elk Lake, where Sayward Road meets the main artery of East Saanich Road, the new Saanich firehall is under construction. When completed, the one-story 58 by 38-foot structure will handle two pieces of equipment. The present Douglas Street station will remain as headquarters. It is the hope of the municipal council to have a third firehall constructed on Shelbourne Street and negotiations are under way seeking Dominion government financial aid with the proposal of giving fire protection to the new Victoria Veterans' Hospital.

City Assessor Dies; 37 Years With City

A. V. Danby, city assessor-collector, died at his home, 1549 Despard Avenue, Wednesday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Danby took over the duties of assessor-collector last August, having been a member of the city staff for 37 years.

He was a native son, born in Victoria in 1890. He joined the City Hall staff in 1911 as paymaster, and served in this capacity, acting as paymaster for the Sooke Lake pipeline when it was constructed, until the outbreak of World War 1, when the joined the Victoria 48th Battalion.

After four years overseas he rejoined the civic staff in 1919 as a member of the treasury department. While here he handled land registry work and all tax sales.

In 1927 he was transferred to the assessor's office as assistant assessor, and with the reorganization of the civic departments in 1935 he was made assistant assessor-collector.

He leaves his wife, two brothers, William H. Danby, Vancouver; and Montague J. Danby of Seattle; two nephews and one niece.

The funeral will be Saturday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1.15 p.m. for St. Matthias' Church, where services will be conducted by Rev. K. L. Sandercock. Interment will be held at Royal Oak Burial Park

War Assets To Sell 2 R.C.A.F. Stations On Vancouver Island

Two former R.C.A.F. stations on Ucluelet Peninsula, Vancouver Island, which once formed part of the extensive defensive system established on Canada's Pacific Coast, have been put up for sale, it was reported here today.

One site was the R.C.A.F. seaplane base at the southwesterly end of Ucluelet Arm in Barkley Sound, and the other, the No. 13 Radio Detachment, at the southeasterly end of the arm. Both sites are on waters leading to the deep-water harbor of Port Alberni.

W.A.C. suggests a purchaser could use the seaplane base site as a tourist resort or adapt it for industrial development.

The base is an extensive property occupying more than 150 acres of land and requiring 40 buildings for the shelter and maintenance of its aircraft and the accommodation of airmen and garrison, including W.D.'s quarters.

The structures include seaplane hangars, maintenance, garage, messes, stores, wireless transmitter station, recreation, a hospital, a dental clinic, a Link-trainer house, photographic building, explosive stores and a powerhouse, and other structures designed for special purposes, such as education, a steam bath and a library.

The smaller establishment which housed the radio detachment is on a site containing 48 acres and about 10 buildings. The complete establishment required other buildings, but some of these have been sold as lumber.

Claims 10-Year Sentence For Armed Robbery 'Excessive'

Appeal from a 10-year sentence imposed following conviction on a charge of armed robbery, was filed at the Courthouse, Wednesday, by Clifford Lapierre.

Judge C. J. Lennox sentenced Lapierre Aug. 6 at Vancouver. In his notice of appeal Lapierre stated the sentence was "excessive."

Also appealing from sentence is Kenneth Morris, convicted in Vancouver on charges of obtaining goods and cash by false pretences and dealing with forged documents, and sentenced Aug. 9, by Deputy Police Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes, to three years in the B.C. penitentiary.

Morris is also appealing from sentence of two years to run concurrently on two charges of dealing with forged documents. The sentence was imposed by Police Magistrate G. A. Grant in Burnaby Police Court, Aug. 11. One of two grounds for appeal stated by Morris is that the police magistrate proceeded on a wrong principle.

Stunt Aids Hearing

TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — The hearing of four-year-old Howard Sturm of Midland Park was "slightly improved" by an airplane dive taken in an attempt to cure him of the total deafness he has suffered for a year, Dr. Sigmar Hilfer said today. The boy will be given "several more" rides.

Expropriation Case Will Go Before B.C. Appeal Court

The B.C. Power Commission will appeal a judgment of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson rejecting the commission's appeal from awards to be paid for several public utilities companies, it was learned here today

The appeal will be heard by the B.C. Appeal Court during the fall sitting which will open in Victoria Sept. 9.

In its original appeal before Mr. Justice Wilson the power commission contested the $1,800,000 award made to the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd. by the provincial government appointed valuator, the American Appraisal Co. of Milwaukee.

Similar points are involved in a $3,500,000 award to be paid the West Canadian Hydro Corporation and its subsidiaries and the Columbia Power Co. in a similar award.

Mr. Justice Wilson in his judgment ruled the commission had no right to appeal because it had failed to serve notice of appeal within 30 days from the finding of the appraiser.

The commission claims the court had no right to pass on the validity of the appeal and that it was a matter within jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Former Victorians Meet Bing Crosby At Jasper

Bing Crosby, world-famous screen and radio star, turned up at Jasper Park Lodge for the 18th renewal of the Totem Pole golf championship held each year over this picturesque course. He devoted part of his Canadian Rockies vacation to competing in the tournament and happily joined the opening ceremonies. From left to right are: Hon. J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, who officially opened the tournament: Robert Sommerville, general manager, C.N.R. hotels; Mrs. John Stark, John Stark, manager, Jasper Park Lodge; Mrs. Bowen and Mrs. Somerville. Mr. and Mrs. Stark are former Victorians, Mr. Stark being a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stark, 132 Moss Street, and Mrs. Stark the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barton, Chandler Avenue. Hon. and Mrs. Bowen are also well known as regular winter visitors in the city.

City Man Proposes Toast To Niece In Regina Wedding

Of interest in Victoria was the quiet wedding Monday afternoon in the chapel of St. Chad's College, Regina, of Dorothy Lawther (Doran), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bryant, Kamsack, to Maurice Harold Johnson, son of Mrs. W. C. Johnson, Regina and Moose Jaw, and the late Mr. Johnson. Rev. A. Woods officiated.

Dr. F. M. Bryant, Victoria, proposed the toast to his niece, at a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Fidlar, cousins of the bride. Mothers of the young couple assisted in welcoming guests. A crown and horseshoe topped the wedding cake, wreathed in white tulle and pink sweet peas, which centred the bride's table. Pink tapers and pink sweet peas also decorated the table.

Mrs. D. G. Fidlar and Miss Dede Anderson, presided at the tea urns. Serviteurs were Misses Marie McDonald, Kae Sutherland, Catherine Mlazgar and Jean McMillan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded nylon organza, en train. A white feathered cap held her chapel veil, and she wore her groom's gift, a double strand of pearls. Her bouquet was composed of white gladioli.

Miss Barbara Bryant, Edmonton, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty O'Connell, Regina, were bridesmaids. The former wore a pale coral gown with matching halo headdress. A powder blue gown with net overskirt was worn by Miss O'Connell, with matching halo hat. Both carried Colonial bouquets of Talisman roses, sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his brother, H. M. Johnson, Moose Jaw. During the signing of the register, Miss Muriel Payne sang "Oh Perfect Love." Mrs. I. M. Williams presided at the organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left by motor for Waterton Lakes and Banff. The bride donned a Palamina beige gabardine suit, pink blouse and off-the-face hat, trimmed in black net and edged with pink straw, black accessories and corsage bouquet of white gladioli. The couple will make their home in Regina.

New York Wedding

Of interest in Victoria was the marriage, Sept. 2, in New York City of Jean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Gordon, London, Ont., to Frederick Fell Pease, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pease, Elk Lake.

Cambria is the ancient name of Wales.

Verna Mackay Married In Toronto

A quiet wedding ceremony performed at the home of the groom, in Toronto, Ont., Aug. 23, is of interest in this city, the home of the bride and her parents.

The bride is Miss Verna Mackay, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Mackay, 3014 Balfour Avenue, who traveled east early in August to become the bride of Raymond Sparkes, only son of George Sparkes, Toronto, and the late Mrs. Sparkes.

Flame-colored gladioli created the setting for the rites performed by Rev. E. Foreman. The bride chose a powder blue gabardine suit, pink floral headdress and white accessories. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses and white gladioli.

Mrs. Kenneth Sparkes, wearing a pearl grey suit, blue floral hat and accessories, was matron of honor. She carried yellow roses and blue cornflowers.

Cousin of the groom, Kenneth Sparkes, attended him as best man.

A three-tier wedding cake, gift of close family friends at Nanaimo, B.C., centred the lace-covered bride's table.

Following a honeymoon trip at Lake Shore, Mr. and Mrs. Sparkes will make their home in Toronto.

Canadian Women At Postwar Gathering

OTTAWA (CP)—A representative body of Canadian women this week heads for Philadelphia where the first postwar meeting of the International Council of Women opens Sept. 5.

Probably the largest foreign delegation to attend this world convention, the group includes housewives, business and professional women. They are traveling from as far west as Moose Jaw, Sask., as far east as Halifax.

"We hope to bring back an inspiration for all Canadian women—to realize the neecssity of working with the women of other countries," said Mrs. G. D. Finlayson of Ottawa, corresponding secretary of the National Council of Women of Canada, which has its headquarters here. Mrs. Finlayson leaves tomorrow for Philadelphia.

The "Power and Responsibilities of Freedom" has been chosen as the theme of this week-long conference which during its sessions will embrace a variety of subjects, from peace and international relations to child welfare, immigration, housing and penal reform.

Mrs. Finlayson said that Miss M. G. Cowan of Edinburgh, president of the National Council of Women of Great Britain, already planned to visit Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg following the convention.

Members of the Canadian delegation includes Mrs. W. C. Rean, York Mills, Ont., president of the National Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. R. J. Marshall, Toronto, president of the National Council of Women of Canada, and Mrs. Mary Allen, Moose Jaw.

Land's End, group of granite cliffs in Cornwall, is the most westerly point in Great Britain.

Rhododendrons, Gladioli And Asters Setting For Wedding

St. Paul's United Church, near Sidney, was decorated with baskets of gladioli, white rhododendrons and asters for the marriage on Saturday evening of Miss Belva Irene Fairburn, daughter of J. A. Fairburn of Edmonton, to Selwyn E. Coffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coffey, Victoria. Guest pews were marked with pink and white rosebuds.

Rev. S. E. Flemming conducted the service. While the register was being signed, Leslie Gaze, accompanied by Mrs. Gaze, sang "Song of Thanksgiving."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a lovely picture in her princess gown of shimmering white satin, with sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. She wore a full length veil, and carried a shower bouquet of deep red roses, swansonia and heather.

Miss Ina L. Coffey and Miss E. J. Coffey, sisters of the bridegroom, were the attendants. They wore similar floor-length gowns of net over taffeta in shades of peach-rose and turquoise, with matching hats and mitts and carried loose colonial bouquets of sweet peas, carnations and pink heather.

James D. Ruble of Wenatchee, Wash., was best man. Ushers were Morris Lund and Arnold William Mann.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's foster-parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whiddon, Harbor Road, Sidney, where Mrs. Whiddon and Mrs. Coffey, mother of the bridegroom, assisted in receiving guests.

White mums and pink carnations, with tall white candles, made an effective background for the two-tier wedding cake, which was topped with rosebuds.

Mrs. J. T. Mann poured tea. The toast to the bride was given by Mr. Mann. During the evening Mr. Gaze sang "Ask Nothing More" and "Our Little Home."

The bride and groom left by car for a honeymoon in Portland, and on their return will make their home at 570 Kerr Avenue, Victoria.

For her going away outfit, the blonde-haired bride chose a black ensemble with scarlet accessories, and wore a corsage bouquet of scarlet gladioli blossoms and white schizanthus.

Prime Minister To Attend Wedding

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today he has acepted an invitation from the King to attend the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten in London Nov. 20.

In response to a querry from the Canadian Press, Mr. King said he had received a cable yesterday from the Lord Chamberlain conveying the King's invitation and had replied today signifying "My deep appreciation of the King's invitation which I am greatly honored to accept."

The date of Mr. King's departure for London has not yet been decided.

Dumplings For Lunch

A good way to convert condensed vegetable soup into a complete luncheon dish is to stretch it with corn meal dumplings . . . big, plump, dumplings, rich with a toasted corn taste and tenderly light as a feather. Served with a crisp green salad and custard or fruit dessert this makes a perfect, balanced luncheon menu.

Once you've tasted it you'll say this makes an almost perfect dish. For the dumplings give a wholesome, bready sort of heft that's filling. And the soup is rich with good beef broth and the full-bodied flavor of pure marrow.

To this meaty essence has been added a whole galaxy of vegetables: sweet, tender peas—crisp carrots—string beans—plump limas—a little turnip—some snips of celery—potatoes to give body—bits of onion—corn—rice—and pungent pepper. These are gently cooked together until every drop of beef has absorbed something of the freshness and the fragrance of a garden. Then the whole is concentrated; so you need add only an equal portion of water to heat and serve.

The dumplings are no trick to turn out either. Just follow these directios for measuring and mixing. Then drop, by spoonsful, into the condensed vegetable soup to simmer until done. You'll find a ten-ounce can of this soup goes twice as you stretch it so.

VEGETABLE SOUP WITH CORN MEAL DUMPLINGS

2 10-oz. cans condensed vegetable beef soup.
1½ cups flour.
⅔ cup corn meal.
¾ teaspoon salt.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
3 tablespoons shortening.
1 cup milk.

Heat soup according to directions on container. Sift together flour, corn meal, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening; add milk.

Drop by spoonsful into hot soup; cover and let simmer for 15 minutes.

Serve 4 to 6.

Tomatoes—They Taste Good

"In the good old days." Beginning with these words, grandmother recounts the parties she used to have and the gay songs she used to sing on such occasions; how she used to bring out one or two of the many bottles of catsup which she had made so that it might be liberally used with the meat or fish she served at her parties; and how one day she felt very badly and quite liike Old Mother Hubbard, because she went to her cupboard there was no catsup left.

Catsup is still one of the popular ways of using the tomato out of season, but it has many competitors in the popularity contest, including tomato juice, canned tomatoes, tomato sauce and soup and chile sauce.

Fortunate indeed we Canadians are to have this variety of tomato products, but naturally at this time of year interest centres on fresh, luscious, vine-ripened tomatoes. They taste so good and are so good. The common complaint is that the fresh tomato season is too short and that is why, in many homes, tomatoes appear at every meal for weeks when they are abundant.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest recipes for tomato dishes they have recently tested and found to their liking. They also give you their two recommended methods for making tomato juice.

TOMATO MINT SALAD

1 slice onion; 6 medium tomatoes; 2 tablespoons finely chopped mint leaves; 3 tablespoons salad oil; 1 tablespoon vinegar; salt and pepper to taste; ⅛ teaspoon sugar; ½ cup finely diced cucumber.

Rub salad bowl with slice of onion. Peel and slice tomatoes and place with chopped mint in the bowl.

Mix oil, vinegar, seasonings and sugar well together. Add diced cucumber. Pour over tomatoes. Chill thoroughly to allow flavours to blend. Serve on crisp slices of head lettuce. Six servings.

CUCUMBER CREOLE

Two large cucumbers (approx. 8-9 inches long); ¼ cup milk-flavored fat; 3 cups chopped fresh tomatoes; or 2 cups canned tomatoes; 2 green peppers (cut in thin strips); salt and pepper to taste.

Wash and pare cucumbers. Cut in quarters lengthwise and removeseeds. Cut in fingers about ½"x3." Melt fat in pan and saute cucumber until browned. Remove to serving dish and keep warm.

Add tomatoes and green pepper to pan, cover and cook slowly 15 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over hot cucumbers and serve. Six servings.

TOMATOE JUICE

1. Wash tomatoes, remove core, cut into pieces. Bring to boil and boil, covered, 5 minutes. Press through sieve or pureer. Bring juice to boiling point. Pour into clean hot containers, leaving ½-inch headspace in glass sealers and ¼-inch in plain tin cans. Add 1 teaspoon salt per quart.

Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes for pints; quarts, and 20 and 28-ounce tin cans; or glass sealers may be processed at 275 degrees F., in an oven with automatic heat control, for 20 minutes for pints and quarts. (Do not process tin cans in the oven.)

2. Wash, remove core. Extract juice, using juice extractor. Heat juice to boiling point. Pour into containers leaving ½-inch headspace in glass sealers and ¼-inch in plain tin cans. Add 1 teaspoon salt per quart.

Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes for pints, quarts, 20 and 28-ounce tin cans; or glass sealers may be processed at 275 degrees F., in an oven with automatic heat control, 20 minutes for pints and quarts. (Do not process tin cans in the oven.)

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: We have a nice home and my wife and I love each other and we get along very well, except for one thing. She will not allow me to invite any of my friends in for an evening.

I work hard to make things go, but I am beginning to feel that I am keeping the house just going for my wife and her friends. Unless conditions change, it will drive me from home. What can I do about this matter?

A HARD-WORKING MAN.

Answer: It is easy enough to settle if you have the backbone to assert yourself as head of the house. You pay the freight. But for you there would be no home If that doesn't give you a right to at least a partnership in it, I don't know what does.

Personally, I have never known whether to marvel more at the subtlety and astuteness with which women have managed to monopolize all the privileges and perquisites of the home while leaving men to hold the bag, or to wonder at the ease with which men have permitted themselves to be flim-flammed out of all their natural rights in the matter.

Prominent Feminist Asks Help Of Women

TORONTO (CP) — Mme. Pierre Casgrain, prominent Quebec feminist, urges women to use their influence to help Canada develop in a warless world.

Speaking at a women's forum at Canadian National Exhibition, Mme. Casgrain said French-Canadians were first interested in Canada as a whole rather than in Quebec.

Without a truly Canadian way of thinking, the country would lack "the truly vital spirit which makes a nation great," she added.

John Fisher, radio commentator, said Canada had physical unity but suffered from self-consciousness when facing "glamorous United States and cultural England."

Opportunities for women in the civil service were discussed by Mrs. Irene Baird of the federal Department of Mines and Resources. Mrs. Baird suggested that the universities might give women more training to fit them for this type of work.

Recommendations to help overcome inequalities of education were made by Mrs. J. E. Houck, a member of the Ontario Royal Commission on Education. She urged the Dominion to give more help to the poorer provinces. Larger administration units were needed and better pay for teachers was essential.

The value of family allowances was stressed by Bessie Touzell, executive secretary of the Toronto Welfare Council and Community Chest.

Planning Improved Conditions For Rural Residents Of World

GENEVA (CP)—Plans for improvement of conditions among rural residents of the world may be drafted and submitted to governments by a special division of the Food and Agriculture Organization under recommendations to be considered here.

Nucleus of the F.A.O. rural welfare division was formed this year following proposals made at the Copenhagen F.A.O. conference last year.

The work will be based on the belief that "in almost all countries rural populations are disadvantaged by comparison with urban populations and that it is the duty of the F.A.O. to be prepared to assist member governments to carry out their undertaking to better the condition of rural populations."

The division will suggest that its task should be:

1. To assist governments in the elaboration of plans for rural welfare by such means as arranging exchange visits of specialists and group discussions o' urgent problems, the conduct of surveys of particular localities and establishing criteria and minimum standards of welfare.

2. To stimulate other international organizations in discharging their functions relating to rural populations.

3. Act as a clearing house of information on measures taken in any country that might be of value to others.

4. Undertake and initiate studies on selected topics. Priority would be given examination of living standards, housing and household equipment, rural roads, land tenure, agricultural co-operation and rural demography.

Lie On Eve Of Make-Or-Break Session Hopes For Easing In East-West Deadlock

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Trygve Lie is approaching one of the most crucial periods of his tenure as secretary-general of the United Nations with expressed hopes of an early break in the east-west deadlock stalling international agreement.

With the 55-nation General Assembly opening in two weeks for what some observers choose to call a make-or-break session, Lie is confident at least some of the difficulties between the United States and Russia will be wiped away, he told the Associated Press today.

SUDDEN CHANGE

Lie acknowledged it was impossible to forecast whether the logjam would be broken as early as this fall, but he added a conviction that "suddenly something will happen."

Nearing the end of his second year as the world's top international civil servant, the 51-year-old Norwegian believes signing and ratification of all the peace treaties eventually will clear the path for the U.N. to function at top efficiency. He was greatly encouraged by Moscow's recent ratification of the pacts with Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Finland.

Lie has visited 22 countries in his globe-trotting as No. 1 representative of the peace agency. He believes the United States should continue to help the rest of the world and feels any other policy would back-fire.

"The American standard (of living) is based on exports and international trade," he told the Associated Press. "Almost all countries can't pay in dollars now. Any United States help helps the United States. It is a form of self-help."

FROM ALL SIDES

As to accusations of leaning too far to the left or right in his U.N. job, Lie said:

"I have been criticized from all directions. As long as this situation continues I feel I am doing an impartial job. I have been accused by Communists of being a traitor to labor. I have been labeled a red devil.

"I don't care so long as the attacks come from all sides."

RIDDING THE AIR OF GERMS

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Air droplets of mucous, germs and viruses have been recognized as disease spreaders for over 50 years. Efforts to destroy these droplets received added attention during World War II.

A study on the attempts to disinfect the air in operating rooms, newborn nurseries and wards found that no single method is entirely successful. A combination of ultraviolet barriers, chemical disinfection and active mechanical ventilation seems to offer the greatest chance of future success.

Many hospitals have installed ultraviolet lights in operating rooms, so that the air is exposed to radiation effects during the operation, thus minimizing infection. Only those germs floating free in the air are affected, but they are considered a minor hazard as most germs are concentrated near the floor. If the light was strong enough to destroy all bacteria, the patient, surgeon and assistant would be burned. Ultra-violet installations in hospitals and school rooms, therefore, will reduce, but not eliminate, air-borne infections.

Efforts to disinfect the air in surgical operating rooms by the use of carbolic acid spray goes back to the time of Lord Lister, the father of antiseptic surgery. This method was abandoned because of the toxic effect of carbolic acid.

DUST DANGEROUS

"Dust, which gets into the air from sweeping, dusting and bed making," is a possible disease spreader. Oiling the floors and bedding in army barracks resulted in less respiratory infection under ordinary conditions, even though germs were still spread during severe epidemics.

Property-installed air conditioning units remove germ-laden air and replace it with fresh air. Outside air contains so few disease germs that it is harmless, but when it is blown into a room the dust which comes in with it may pick up disease germs.

Question—When I take a sun bath, my skin itches for some time afterwards. Will this lead to cancer?

Answer—Cancer of the skin develops after degeneration of the skin. Your difficulty sounds like physical allergy. Consult your physician.

Vienna Orchestra Arrives In Britain

Shorter Trousers Now Proposed By Fashion Designers

NEW YORK (AP) — Men's ankles are about to have their day in the sun.

With women's legs and ankles losing the battle against the longer skirts, men's fashion designers have decreed the male ankle will come out from under. Men's trousers, they say, will be at least two inches shorter.

Tony Williams, fashion arbiter for the annual list of best-dressed men, warned gloomily that the way things are going, men will be lucky if they have any pants left at all.

"The shorter trousers with cuff will barely touch the top of the shoe," he said.

A spokesman for a chain of men's clothing shops said pants on eastern U.S. university campuses will barely meet the top of the sock, but added, "every customer is encouraged to decide the most becoming length for himself."

The charter members of the Symbol (Sam, you made the pants too long) Club have the sanction of women fashion designers.

Claire McCardell declared, "It's time we women had something to look at." Tina Lesser said she was in favor of "attractive colorful and sensible men's clothes" and declared "shortened trousers mark the first move in that direction."

The men themselves noted the new decree with mingled emotion.

Lanky motion picture star Jimmy Stewart: "Doesn't make much difference to me. My pants always run up my legs anyhow."

Conservative, British-born actor Brian Aherne: "Haberdashery dogmatism. A gentleman will shun them."

To Fly For Award

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Pioneers who fathered Canadian flying will mix with young enthusiasts here this week as tyros from all parts of Canada compete for the coveted title of "best amateur pilot in Canada."

The trials, being held in conjunction with the Oshawa annual air show, Sept. 5-6, are sponsored by the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, with the semi-official assistance of the R.C.A.F. and the Department of Transport.

Competing for the Webster Trophy, a handsome mounted figure which actually rests in the National Art Gallery in Ottawa and never goes to the winner, are a group of young men and one woman whose ages average in the early 20's and most of whom have their private pilot's license, a few solo hours, and little more.

The winner stands to get a medallion and possibly a small sterling silver gift, but to a flying enthusiast, the honor of the "best pilot" title is the big payoff.

Contestants are limited to persons who were not trained as R.C.A.F. birdmen.

Marshall To Decide Soon Whether Session Needed On European Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Marshall is expected to decide within the next two weeks whether to recommend a special session of Congress for emergency action on the European economic crisis.

Marshall's decision, officials said today, probably will be made shortly after George F. Kennan, the Secretary's top policy planner, returns from Paris with the latest information from European officials and U.S. authorities there.

The final decision would be up to President Truman. He has said several times that he would not hesitate to recall the lawmakers if the situation should require such a step.

Marshall himself is just back from the Rio de Janeiro conference on inter-American defence and shortly before his return Wednesday, State Under-Secretary Lovett told a press conference the situation in Europe is getting rapidly worse.

Lovett said he feels certain that before the end of this year the United States will be compelled to face the hard facts of European necessity. He made it clear that reports from U.S. observers at Paris have presented the crisis as much worse than the U.S. government previously had calculated.

The main trouble appears to be that with a shortage of materials essential for continued existence — chief among them grains—European countries are confronted with a dangerously dwindling dollar supply with which to stave off economic collapse. The things they urgently need require heavy dollar expenditures.

State Department experts have figured that a total balance sheet of European needs and possible United States commitments should be ready for the House and Senate foreign relations committees by November at the earliest. The committees in turn are expected to complete their hearings barely in time for presentation to the full Congress at the regular session in January.

Urges War On 'Flu

GENEVA (Reuter)—Dr. Nikolai Vinogradov, Russian delegate to the World Health Organization, called Tuesday for all possible action to prevent another disastrous influenza epidemic such as swept Europe in 1918. The committee considered proposals for preventing an epidemic, including establishment of a world influenza centre.

Esquimalt May Travel For Softball Series

Despite the fact that Ken More, president of the Western Canada Softball Association refused to switch the playoffs from Vancouver to Victoria, there is still a possibility that Esquimalt, B.C. senior A champions, will compete in the playoffs, Jim Lackie, manager of the squad, announced today.

Lackie said: "I am going to contact all of the players today in regard to traveling to Vancouver for the series and if I can field a team Victoria will be represented. Otherwise we will have to back out of the series." If Esquimalt defaults Lackie will try and arrange for the prairie team to come here for an exhibition game at the conclusion of the series.

Wally Yeamans, president of the B.C. Softball Association, who made an effort to have the playoffs played in Victoria only to be thwarted by the western Canada president, announced that if Esquimalt is unable to play, New Westminster Army and Navy Vets, mainland champions, will be named B.C. representatives.

Yeamans then issued the following appeal to Victoria fans. "Inasmuch as the playoffs cannot be held here, Victoria should lend every effort to make it possible for Esquimalt to represent the province in the Canadian playdowns."

Meanwhile, Vancouver teams are still in an uproar trying hard to figure out a way of getting back in the playoffs after having been knocked off by New Westminster.

FINALS CANCELED

It was also revealed today that the junior boys' final scheduled for Youbou, the junior girls' final and the juvenile boys' final, all B.C. playoffs, had been canceled.

Hank Sauer Voted Most Valuable In International Loop

NEW YORK (CP) — Hank Sauer, fence-busting outfielder of Syracuse Chiefs, has been named the International League's most valuable player for 1947, Lloyd McGowan, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers' Association, announced today.

Sauer, who leads the league in hitting and runs batted in, was the first choice of 29 of the 32 writers who participated in the poll. He received 253 points out of a possible 256. Sauer is batting at a .334 clip and has belted 49 home runs and batted in 135 runs.

The Syracuse Star also was named on every ballot for an outfield berth on the International League's 1947 all-star team announced today. Sauer received 32 votes while his all-star outfield teammates, Howie Moss of Baltimore, the league's home-run leader with 52 and Dutch Mele of the Chiefs received 13 and nine votes, respectively.

Roy Campanella, Montreal's negro catcher, won the backstop position almost as easily, gaining 31 out of 32 votes.

The remainder of the all-star team is composed of Stevens, Montreal, first base; Burgess Whitehead, Jersey City, second base; Oscar Grimes, Toronto, third base; Tom Stallcup Jersey City, shortstop, and Ed Heusser, Montreal and Bob Kuzava, Baltimore, pitchers.

Double Figures On 6 Winners At Hastings Strip

VANCOUVER (CP)—The long shots had a field day for seven of the eight races on Wednesday's card at Hastings Park race track here.

Running on a track made sloppy by overnight rains, Princess Gay in the sixth was the only favorite to repay the bettor's confidence, paying $4.35 on nose bets.

Highest price returned on the card on which show prices were higher than the average win returns was $25.70 paid by Gay Commando in the fifth.

Trophy Finals At Gun Club Sunday

Finals of the three season-long trophy competitions are carded at the Victoria Gun Club, Albert Head Road grounds Sunday afternoon. Shooting will start at 1. Shootoffs will be staged where necessary to decide the winners of the Colonist and Humber Handicap trap trophy events and the C.I.L. Shield skeet competition. The public is invited to attend and join in the day's sport with the clay pigeons.

THISTLES PRACTICE

Saanich Thistles soccer club will hold a practice for first division and intermediate teams, Sunday at Hampton Park at 10. All last year's players are requested to attend and any others interested.

Tillicums Win First Game Of Boxla Finals

Sid Anderson's Tillicum lacrosse squad surprised even their most ardent supporters last night at Stevenson Memorial Park by staging a brilliant rally in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter to edge out the highly-touted Burrards of Vancouver, 16 to 14, in the first game of the British Columbia junior lacrosse playoffs.

Second and third games of the best-of-three series for the right to represent the province in the Dominion playdowns will be played in Vancouver next week.

Burrards, who annexed their league title in undefeated fashion, but dropped two games in their mainland playof series, almost pulled the game out of the fire themselves after trailing 9 to 3 in the second period.

McMILLAN SPARKS ATTACK

Tillicums took a 4 to 1 lead in the first quarter and then paced by Red McMillan, who counted four successive goals, ran into a 9 to 3 lead before the mainlanders could untrack.

Far from beaten, Burrards bounced back with a four-goal splurge of their own just before half time to trail 9 to 8 at the intermission.

The third quarter was slow compared to the opening half with Burrards outscoring the locals two goals to one to knot the count at 10 to 10.

Jim Ranson, Ed Popham and Gordie Ritchie slipped through for markers as Tillicums again took the lead 13 to 11 at the three-minute mark of the final quarter. John McKay of Burrards cut the margin to one goal and then Albert Lee was awarded the tying goal when Les Aitken appeared to knock the ball into his own net on a rebound off the boards. Scott scored on a backhander and Burrards led, 14 to 13.

It was getting pretty dark at this stage of the game and a few drops of rain started to fall making footing extremely treacherous.

PENALTIES IMPORTANT

Pressing hard Tillicums received a break when two Vancouver players were penalized in the last five minutes of the game. Taking advantage of the two extra men Larry Booth tied the score on a pass from Popham. It was Popham again a few seconds later who gave Tillicums the lead at 15 to 14, with Ransom scoring the clincher on a penalty shot.

McMillan with five goals and Ed Popham with two goals and four assists were the best of the Tillicums with Scott and Byford the pick of the mainlanders.

Teams and scorers follow:

Burrards—Green, Hannula, Scott 3, Anderson 2, Lee 3, Byford 1, Alec McKay 1, Hipwell 1, Eppler, Zimmer, Cruikshank, Montgomery, Abbott, John McKay 1.

Tillicums—Aitken, Joyce, Booth 3, Coates 1, Ritchie 1, Shelldrick 1, Druce, Lonz, Ranson 3, Bourke, Dakers, Ellis, Popham 2, McMillan 5.

Legion, Foul Bay Open Boxla Series

Canadian Legion and Foul Bay, bitter boxla rivals all season, will renew that rivalry at Stevenson Memorial Park tonight in the first game of the city senior lacrosse finals. Game will start at 6.15.

Foul Bay knocked off Jokers in straight games to enter the finals while Legion were forced to go five contests before subduing J.B.A.A.

St. Albans Carpeb Bowling Club will open the season tonight at 8.

Bobby Feller Gets $40,000 Bonus

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Feller's 1947 salary "already has exceeded" the highest figure ever paid to a major league baseball player, Babe Ruth's $80,000 stipend, Bill Veeck said Wednesday as he gave a fat $40,000 bonus cheque to his ace pitcher.

Verley Scores Close Victory In Jasper Golf

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — Bing Crosby put on the show again here Wednesday in the 18th annual Jasper Totem Pole golf tournament. Bing finished his 18-hole championship round with a sparkling birdie which gave him a card of 69, two-under-par.

Bing ended his match against Matt Berry of Vancouver on the 14th with a grand display of golf from start to finish.

Gordon V. Verley, Victoria medalist, defeated Ted West of Edmonton on the 18th green and G. Cleat of Vancouver, last year's runner-up, defeated Holiday of Saskatoon 4 and 3.

Other favorites to come through in the championship round were Lionel Morrison of Calgary, who defeated Dr. Shoemaker of Clarkston, Wash., 5 and 4; and Dr. Fowler of Astoria, who downed Thompson of Vancouver, 5 and 4.

In the lower half defending champion Carl Haymond of Tacoma, Wash., eliminated Dr. G. Bigelow of Victoria on the 19th.

In the women's championship Mrs. Cleat, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. J. Pedicord, Vancouver medalist, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Holloway, Seattle, trimmed clubmate Mrs. Dunn, 2 and 1. In the lower half Mrs. Barney O'Connor, Seattle, a former champion, beat Miss Evans, Vancouver, 2 up and Mrs. Todd, Victoria, defeated clubmate Mrs. Harold Husband.

Giants Overwhelm Grid All-Stars 21-0

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Giants of the National Professional Football League humiliated the eastern college All-Stars 21 to 0 last night in the Polo Grounds, as the Army's terrific twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, made their final farewell as a gridiron one-two punch.

SASKATOON WINS

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatoon Merchants defeated Winnipeg Globelites, 1946 champions, 6 to 4, here Wednesday in the second of a best-of-three series in the western Canada men's senior softball playoffs and took the series in straight games. They had won the first 2 to 1.

By PETE SALLAWAY

DIRE need for adequate playing facilities in Victoria for the softballers was demonstrated again with Esquimalt, recently crowned British Columbia champions, seeking a location to stage the western Canada finals against the prairie representatives. Having played at an open park all summer and on a diamond that could be described as anything but good, the Victoria team found itself with a major promotion on its hands and no where to put it on. It is the first time the western series has come to the coast and it is unfortunate that there was not a proper closed park at the disposal of the local club.

THERE was talk of promoting a major number of the games at Athletic Park, providing the contests did not interfere with baseball. As previously announced two all-star clubs from the Western International League are booked into the park for Sept. 12 and 13, so those two dates were not available. Then again Athletic Park is strictly a baseball park. It has been remodeled and the diamond put into its best condition ever for the promotion of the professional games. Softball played on a baseball infield does it no good.

SOFTBALLERS in other cities and towns, some of them much smaller than Victoria, have their own playing fields In a number of cases they are closed parks. There is no reason why the big ball specialists here cannot get together with the city and work out some plan for providing them with better facilities. Senior games this year at Central Park attracted large crowds and with a standard admission fee at a closed playing field the sport should be able to stand on its own feet.

NOBODY can expect Athletic Park to accommodate every type of sport. Under present conditions every time a certain sport comes up with a big promotion its leaders immediately want to move into the city enclosure. With baseball in the summer and soccer and American football in the winter the park is bound to be well worked. The turf can only be subjected to so much rough treatment otherwise it will never stand up. This is one feature of a park the average individual never thinks about

Louis May Fight Tandberg In June

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis looked around at the current crop of heavyweights today and declared that he might fight Ole Tangberg if the Swedish boy "can keep standing up in the ring until next June."

The Brown Bomber arrived in Buffalo by air from New York city and was to drive from here to Toronto where his softball team meets the Toronto all-stars in a feature of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Joe said he expected to start training in a few weeks for his non-title bout Nov. 14 in Madison Square Garden with Jersey Joe Wolcott. He said he would quit the ring after his next title bout in June, 1948. "Win, lose or draw."

Athletics Drop Two Straight To Tacoma

Victoria Athletics continued their typical end-of-the-season form last night, as they dropped their second straight Western International League game to Tacoma, 6 to 5. Meanwhile, Vancouver and Spokane were running neck and neck for the pennant, being virtually tied for first place. Vancouver walloped Bremerton 15 to 3, while Spokane was taking two from Yakima 6 to 2 and 10 to 1.

Athletics opened the scoring against Tacoma with one run in the first inning on singles by Hooper, Harshman and Jensen.

Dick Greco's heavy bat accounted for two of four Tiger runs in the second after Gene Clough and Maury Donovan had singled and then scored on a double by Hank Bartolomei, who in turn was scored by the Tacoma pitcher's 435-foot homer over deep left centre. It was his 21st home run of the season.

HOOPER HOMERS

Victoria added one with an in-the-park homer in the third by Hooper and tied the score at 4-all in the eighth with two runs on singles by Mastro and Hooper and a triple by Harshman.

The Tigers came back to sew up the game in their half of the eighth when Clough singled, went to second on a fielder's choice and came home on a single by Clifford. Clifford, in turn, was advanced on an error and scored on Greco's single.

The Athletics gained their final tally on three walks and an error but lacked the scoring punch needed to win the game.

VANCOUVER FAVORED

After tonight's final game with Bremerton, Vancouver have a definite schedule advantage. The Caps concluded their season with four tilts against eighth-place Yakima while Bremerton faces five tough contests at Salem, which meets Wenatchee twice tonight. Spokane concludes its Yakima series with a single game tonight, then swings north for a trio against Victoria.

Vancouver and Bremerton broke even in the hit department last night but the Canadians included five home runs, two by Charley Mead, to offset an early Bremerton lead. Bill Brenner, Bill Reese and Pete Jonas collected the winner's other round-trippers with Hooks Devaurs picking one up for Bremerton.

Spokane combined six hits with seven walks and four errors to hand Yakima its first game defeat as Bill Werbowski marked up his season's 17th win. George Schmees' two-run homer was the big blow of the eight-inning second-game triumph.

Wenatchee, climaxing its closing bid to escape the circuit cellar, blanked Salem 5 to 0 and left the Oregonians three and a half games off the pace.

Lose Softball Series

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Mortons won their inter-provincial senior women's fastball playoff series here yesterday, defeating Vancouver Pacifics, 3 to 1, and 2 to 0, in 13 innings.

Two costly errors by Pacifics allowed Mortons to win the game and the right to meet Saskatoon Ramblers in the next round.

Big Two-Day Dog Show

With 337 dogs, representing 42 breeds, entered, the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association will stage two championship shows at the Armories, Friday and Saturday. Judging will start at 10.30 each morning and continue through until late in the evening when the specials will be awarded.

One of the features of the big event will be the appearance of five prominent judges, including three from the United States and one from Britain.

Laura F. Delano, cousin of the late president of the U.S., will judge all sporting and sporting hounds, specials and best in show the first day. G. R. Perkins of Wichita, Kansas, will handle toys and Mervin Rosenbaum, San Francisco, will pass on the working, terriers and non-sporting.

On Saturday, Mrs. Eileen Walker of Middlesex, Eng., will judge Irish setters. She is a famous breeder and championship judge in Britain. Perkins will handle the balance of sporting and hounds, while Arthur Wright of Cloverdale will judge working, terriers, toys and non-sporting. Rosenbaum will award the ribbins and trophies for the specials and best in show.

A registered springer spaniel will be given away as a door prize Saturday night.

Player-Committee Meets N.H.L. On Pension Plan

NEW YORK (CP) — Headed by Sylvanus Apps of Toronto Maple Leafs, a three-man delegation representing National Hockey League players was to appear today at the semi-annual meeting of the N.H.L.'s board of governors to discuss player-pension and savings plan proposals.

Other members of the delegation appointed to represent the players were Sid Abel of Detroit Red Wings and Glen Harmon of Montreal Canadiens.

The move to formulate pension and saving plans for players similar to those adopted last year by the major baseball leagues came after the governors, in their opening sessions here yesterday, drafted a new constitution binding the six N.H.L. clubs "to play together in perpetuity."

President Clarence Campbell of the N.H.L., in announcing the drafting, said that it represented no really new development but rather a "formalizing and smoothing out" of the agreement binding the six clubs.

He said that in 1926 the teams drafted a 15-year agreement which in 1941, because of the war, was extended on a year-to-year basis. This year, instead of making the agreement for a set period, the clubs had placed no time limit on it.

Provision is made under the new constitution for withdrawal of clubs under certain circumstances, including voluntary resignation folowing approval of all clubs, expulsion or general "dissolution." Any club "expelled" from the N.H.L. would be able to join another league, but it would have to "start from scratch" because it would have to dispose of its players and its franchise.

With this constitution as a framework, Campbell said, league by-laws, rules would be brushed up and brought into conformity with the new agreement. This probably would be done at an N.H.L. meeting in Toronto Oct. 14, when regulations that he said he had "recast" slightly are expected to be approved.

Army And Navy Vets In Softball Victory

Army and Navy Vets senior A softball squad put a crimp in Dominion Meat Market's Poodle Dog Cup aspirations last night by defeating the senior B nine, 6 to 1, in a knockout game.

Norm Martin hurled the victory for Vets and for seven innings held them hitless. He lost his no-hitter in the eighth when the marketers banged out two singles for their lone run. Martin whiffed 15.

Yankees Whip Boston Twice To Cinch Flag

Credit Bill McCahan, a widely unknown Philadelphia Athletics rookie, with the pitching job of the year—a performance that overshadowed the virtual clinching of the American League pennant by New York Yankees.

While the Yanks twice bowled over Boston, ruining a seven-game Red Sox win streak, McCahan Wednesday tossed a no-hitter against Washington Senators to win, 3 to 0.

Not only did McCahan, a 25-year-old big league freshman, who was with Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League last year, throw the third no-hit, no-run game of the season, but he also came within one out of a perfect game. A wild throw by first baseman Ferris Fain in the second inning permitted the only Washington runner to reach base as McCahan faced but 28 men. He did not walk a man and struck out two.

The Yankees turned loose all their batting power against the Red Sox and blasted Sox pitching for a total of 34 hits in 11 to 2 and 9 to 6 victories.

Bobo Newsom picked up his 10th victory behind the 18-hit assault on Hughson and his gang in the opener.

Frank Shea registered his first victory since July 5 in the second tilt, but he required relief help from Joe Page.

Cleveland and Chicago divided a twilight-night pair, the Indians rallying to take the finale, 6 to 5, with two in the ninth after bowing to Orval Grove's six-hitter in the 8 to 3 dusk number.

CARDS WIN

St. Louis Cardinals tightened up the National League race a trifle when they walloped Chicago 11 to 1, slicing the idle Brooklyn Dodgers' margin to six games.

Stan Musial continued to set a rugged pace with five hits in six at bat to pace a 15-hit St. Louis attack that included a homer by Enos Slaughter and a grand slam homer by Ron Northey as a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Ewell Blackwell side-armed his way past Pittsburgh for Cincinnati to post victory No. 21 by a 12 to 6 margin. Blackwell was touched for Ralph Kiner's 41st homer, and one by Billy Cox among 10 blows but he struck out 12 Pirates.

With Outdoor Sportsmen

By ROY THORSEN

Opening of the hunting season for three game specimens next week is the major item of interest in the outdoor sporting world.

Off the King's Printer presses this week came the 1947-48 Game Regulations — in booklet form — giving the gen on the new shooting seasons. One week on Saturday, Sept. 13, the curtain will be lifted to make blue grouse, buck deer and band-tailed pigeons legal targets on the island.

Seasons and bag limits are: Deer—Sept. 13 to Nov. 30, with bag limit of three deer for the season; grouse (blue only) — Sept. 13 to Oct. 31, with bag limit of six per day and 24 for season; band-tailed pigeons—Sept. 13 to Sept. 30, with bag limit of 10 per day and 50 for season; pheasants —Oct. 18 to Nov. 16, with bag limit of two daily and 15 for season.

There is an island closed season this year on quail and willow grouse. The duck seasons do not open until mid-November. There is no closed season on black bear.

NOTES TO BE REMEMBERED

A few notes about the coming hunting season: In the country lying north of Oyster River and that of the Alberni electoral district lying west of the Beaufort Range the pheasant season closes Nov. 2. Daily bag limit on pheasants has been cut from three to two. On the island no person can have more than one deer and no more than two days' bag limit of grouse in his possession at any one time.

In local hunting circles the gun-toting boys have been fixing up hunting kits for a couple of weeks. Judging from reports a great many parties are planning opening-season invasions of the vast Campbell River and Sayward countries to seek blues and deer. Cowichan's wide area, Hillcrest, Sooke and the Highland District will undoubtedly attract a good percentage of local hunters.

WITH THE CLUBS

In the club news at the present time there are two features of interest. All members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association who have registered button fish up to the coming Saturday night this year are eligible to enter the competition for possession of the Allcock Shield on Sunday. Specimens caught in this competition can be weighed-in at any official weighing-in station, with the request they be marked "Allcock Shield entry."

On Monday night members of the Chinook Club, the anglers' association, and their friends are invited to attend a supper and games night at 7.30, in the Kit Kat Cafe. There are a considerable number of tickets to be had at Wilson & Lenfesty's and Cy Bernard's. They must be picked up by Friday night to enable the caterers to know how many will be present.

The first of the September coho have shown up off Oak Bay, but up to last night, fishing was not classed as good . . . Some anglers are having good luck with the springs in Cowichan Bay . . . Roger Monteith reports fishing picking up off Saanichton Spit.

SURE BETS FOR FISH

Off south Saturna Island's east point, Tumbo and Pender Islands the waters are still rich fishing grounds. Many hundreds, chiefly grilse, were taken by parties on launches over the week-end, Martin flatties, small spoons, plugs, gang spoons all scoring.

Stew Skillings, Joe Doe and others took 34 salmon, 14 grilse in two days. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Horne, Derek Horne, Gordon MacDonald of Portland and Bud Hocking took five salmon, 45 grilse in two days. The Hart Henderson party, including T. H. Gooch of Toronto and Charlie Halliday of Detroit, registered a basket of 10 salmon, 34 grilse. Doug Patterson, Walt Newcombe, Jack Watson and Ed Rohrvig scored 30 grilse in one day. Col. Don Martin hit heavy "pay dirt," a 20-pound spring, among his catch. The Bert Challoner party did well, as did the group composed of Barney Olson, George Phillips and Bert Davies, the angling team of George Simpson Sr. and H. G. Harris.

THE INLET

Some people claimed poor fishing at Saanich Inlet last week-end, but the following were registered at Hall's Boathouse from Saturday to Tuesday, taken from the Stone House and down the Narrows to the Goldstream Island: W. Charlton, 21.15 pounds; H Lou Poy and E. Que, 25½ and six between five and 10 pounds, two coho; Don McLean with Lou Bennett of Phoenix, Arizona, 23.10, 15.8 and 15 pounds; 13-year-old Beverley Watson, with mother, 17½ pounds; Horace and Bert Beer, 16 pounds and eight other springs, one coho; Mike Andrews, 23.8 pounds for his button; H. Helanger, eight springs, largest 10 pounds; R. K. Conway with Bill Stothers, 13¾ and three between five and 10 pounds; F. C. McPherson, 13½, 12½ pounds, two smaller.

Win Gives Angels Game And Half Edge In Coast Loop Race

Sacramento whitewashed second place San Francisco, 4 to 0, in the Coast League last night to take some pressure off the leading Los Angeles Angels, who beat San Diego, 5 to 4. It increased the Angeles slim lead to one and one-half games.

The Seals, however, found pressure on them rising as third-place Oakland trimmed Portland, 6 to 5, to climb within a game and a half of San Francisco. Thus the first division merry-go-round whirled on.

In the other game of the night Seattle edged Hollywood, 3 to 2.

The Los Angeles-San Diego hits were even at seven apiece. The Padres got the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth inning but relief pitcher Jess Dobernic put out the fire by fanning San Diego's manager Rip Collins and Johnny Barrett.

Sacramento's Rex Cecil pitched a two-hitter to shut out the seals and even the series at one game apiece. Don White, the only San Francisco batsman who got safe blows off Cecil, smacked a double on the first pitch in the first inning and a single in the eighth.

Seattle won its second straight from Hollywood by coming from behind to edge the Stars 3 to 2. After Hollywood had been leading 1 to 0 for seven innings Seattle scored three tallies in the eighth to win.

LAMOTTA BEATEN

CHICAGO (AP)—Cecil Hudson, Milwaukee negro, scored a rousing upset decision over Jake Lamotta, New York's top-ranking middleweight, in a 10-round bout before 6,501 fans at a Damon Runyan Cancer Fund show here last night. Hudson weighed 155, Lamotta 165.

Open Series Sept. 13

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Carsteel, eastern Canadian champions, and Winnipeg Scottish, mid-west titlists, will meet in Winnipeg in a best-of-three series starting Sept. 13 in the Dominion Football Association semi-final, it was announced here Tuesday.

Second game will be played Sept. 15, with the third contest, if necessary, scheduled for Sept. 17. The winner of the Montreal-Winnipeg round will move on to Vancouver to engage Vancouver St. Andrew's in the final starting Sept. 20.

BABY'S CONSTIPATION SERIOUS IF NEGLECTED

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses, something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ailments of babyhood.

Quick in their action. Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied.

Plans Progress On City Hall Hotel

Plans for the new $4,000,000 hotel to be built on the City Hall site are going forward and first drawings should be ready within a month, Milton King, local representative, reported today, following a meeting in Seattle Wednesday.

He said there is a lot of detail work to be done yet, but the architects are rushing work on the plans. He said the interests who are putting up the funds are pleased with the progress being made and enthusiastic over the project.

A meeting with the City Hall committee will be held within the next few days, Mr. King said, commenting that the co-operation received from the city committee is speeding the work of getting plans finalized.

He promised that, well ahead of the December election, when the ratepayers decide on the leasing of the City Hall property, there will be full information given as to who is putting up the money for the new structure.

The remaining $580,000 of the $600,000 deposit will be made prior to Nov. 11, he said.

Study Plans To Build Temporary Wharf At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—T. G. Godspeed, engineer of the federal government, arrived here Wednesday to survey fire damage to the government assembly wharf, which burned Aug. 26.

Mr. Godspeed arrived with J. L. Gibson, M.P., with whom he visited his department at New Westminister on the problem of setting up temporary wharf space at Port Alberni.

A plan suggested last week by local harbor commissioners and small lumber operators has met with approval of Mr. Godspeed. Under the plan, planked storage space could be set up on a bulkhead fill, adjacent to Bloedel, Stewart and Welch Co. mill. Lumber could be taken from there to ships via scow until a permanent dock is built.

Mr. Godspeed has already conferred with the city council on the project of graveling and planking the fill. Mr. Godspeed will spend several days here acting on the deputy minister's authorization to put the old wharf back in use as soon as possible.

Official word that rebuilding of the burned dock will begin or that temporary wharfing is available is anxiously awaited by all small lumber operators, most of whom have been shut down since the fire, due to lack of storage and shipping space.

Aldermen To Resume Battle Of 'Islands'

The battle of the "islands" on Blanshard Street between Cormorant and Pandora Avenue is not over yet.

Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the street lighting committee, and a member of the public works committee, said today he intended to bring the matter up again when the City Council meets next Friday.

If the "islands" are eliminated, as was decided Tuesday, it will mean that the plan for street lighting on the new portion of the street will also have to be redrafted, and it will result in the corner not being as properly lighted as under the present plan which calls for lighting units on the "islands" in the middle of the street. Ald. Mulliner said the change at the south end of the new portion will also spoil the appearance of the lighting units by forcing four of them to the side of the road.

He said he had been in further consultation with Chief of Police J. A. McClellan and was more than ever convinced that elimination of the two "islands" will cause such potential danger to pedestrians that the City Council should reconsider its decision.

Ald. Mulliner also stressed that the traffic lights would require a long stop period to allow pedestrians across the 110-foot crossing that traffic, during busy periods, would be snarled up past Johnson Street on Blanshard Street to the south.

Rerouting Of Bus Keeps Saanich Students At Home

Following a report that 11 Prospect Lake students did not go to Mount Newton elementary school today because of suspension of the bus service yesterday, it was learned from Mrs. K. N. Sparks, secretary of the Saanich School Board, that this vehicle had been rerouted to handle an overload of children on the Cordova Bay bus route.

Mrs. Sparks said the bus, which left Royal Oak each morning and proceeded along West Saanich Road to Keating Cross Road and to Mount Newton High School, was taken off the route because only four pupils rode in it.

The demand for 55 bus seats on the Cordova Bay route resulted in this vehicle being switched to handle 20 young passengers on East Saanich Road.

The secretary, however, noted that with school term just getting under way, bus route arrangements were still in the experimental stage. She made a request that parents who consider their children warrant bus transportation to communicate direct with the school board so that route difficulties can be ironed out to the satisfaction of all parties.

With regard to Prospect Lake children being unable to attend school due to the suspension of the bus, Mrs. Sparks pointed out there was a bus at Jackson's Corner, a matter of 1½ miles from Prospect Lake Store, which the children could use. On a visit to the elementary school yesterday the secretary learned from questions put to the pupils that none of them lived more than two miles from the school. It is considered, she said, that students who live within 3½ miles of a school are within walking or bicycle riding distance of the institutions, but that courtesy rides were given these children should they wish to utilize buses on routes.

"We can soon solve the problem if the parents of the children affected will communicate with us at once," she said.

Mrs. M. MacGovern, Music Teacher, Dies

Mrs. Marion MacGovern, 3147 Quadra Street, prominent in the musical life of Victoria since coming here 40 years ago, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital, Tuesday, at the age of 71.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3, from the Chapel of the Thomson Funeral Home, with interment at Royal Oak.

A native of Guthrie, Ont., where she received her musical education, Mrs. MacGovern interested herself in the city's musical life for the past 40 years.

She was a charter member and past president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association and an active member of the Musical Arts Society.

She was active in the organization of the Victoria Musical Festival, some years ago. Particularly successful in her work with young people, Mrs. MacGovern started many of Victoria's musicians on their way.

A student of music all her life, she was a member of the Conservatory Club. She resided with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lottie Campbell, for a number of years.

Surviving are three brothers, William Campbell of Shanty Bay, Ont.; Dr. Angus Campbell of Toronto, and George Campbell of Barrie, Ont.

'Explosion' In CBC Predicted By Paper

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Evening Telegram said in a newspage story today that the resignations of two Canadian Broadcasting Corporation executives, D. C. McArthur and Jean Marie Beaudet, "is expected to be a dynamic fuse that will eventually explode in Parliament."

Resignation of Mr. McArthur as chief news editor, effective Sept. 30, was announced Wednesday night. Mr. Beaudet's resignation as western regional director was announced last Friday.

The Telegram story added:

"Internal trouble within the CBC has been increasing and it is believed the whole breakdown will have to be aired and investigated in Parliament soon.

"Other resignations are expected to follow within the next few days.

"The clash in Canada's national radio is attributed to a dictator-complex suffered by the general manager, Dr. Augustin Frigon, and deeply resented by heads of departments."

14 Points Raised In Appeal Against Judgment For S.P.C.A.

Sydney Pickles, owner of a farm in Saanich, has through his counsel, H. W. Davey, K.C., filed a notice of appeal in the Supreme Court Registry, from the verdict of the special jury and judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, June 24, whereby Mr. Pickles' action, for damages for malicious prosecution against six executive officers and an inspector for the Victoria Branch of the S.P.C.A., was dismissed and the plaintiff ordered to pay costs of the action.

An order will be sought setting aside the verdict and judgment and allowing a new trial on the action, with the plaintiff to recover against the defendants, the costs of the first trial and costs of the appeal.

Conduct of the case for the defendants in the trial, by R. D. Harvey, K.C., is included in the 14 grounds listed for appeal.

"In closing his address he referred to matters which were not in evidence and to his personal preference for his brief to that of his opponent," the statement read.

"He implied there was something meritorious in the defendants' case and something unworthy about the plaintiff's case, all of which created an atmosphere prejudicial to the plaintiff and favorable to the defendants, and which prevented the jury arriving at a verdict based solely on evidence.

"The learned counsel for the defendants, repeatedly referred to irrelevant matters and repeatedly attempted to introduce inadmissible evidence; that in his opening address he referred to evidence which was inadmissible and to evidence which he did not call."

Listed as another grounds for appeal was the claim that the verdict of the jury was unreasonable and perverse.

OTHER POINTS

Other grounds listed are:

"That the learned trial judge failed to adequately direct the jury on the law relating to malice.

"That the learned trial judge erred in admitting evidence of the defendant John L. Weeks, and Florence G. Barr; that Col. Evans and Mrs. Evans told them, that they knew the plaintiff neglected his sheep and that Col. Evans had seen dead sheep on the plaintiff's farm the previous year."

The trial, which opened in Supreme Court June 16 and concluded June 24, attracted much attention, with the public benches well filled throughout the hearing.

The suit arose from a charge of neglect of sheep laid against Mr. Pickles by the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A., which was dismissed in Saanich Police Court.

Named as defendants in Mr. Pickles' suit were: James Barr, Anabelle B. Vivenot, Harold H. Smith, E. Williams, Florence G. Barr, George Drew and John L. Weeks, inspector for the branch.

Metropolitan Director

Miss Jean M. Spiller has been appointed by the board of Metropolitan United Church as director of religious education in the church school and Young People's Society, and minister's assistant. Miss Spiller is a graduate of the United Church Training School, Toronto, and also of Calgary Normal School. She begins her duties early in September.

Eight Productions By Little Theatre Planned This Season

Plans are nearing completion for the 1947-48 season at the Little Theatre where eight productions will probably be staged.

The season will open with an evening of variety in which the newly formed choral group will make a bow on Oct. 15. Towards the end of the month another musical group will present the light opera "The Bride Ship."

The first major production will be the three-act comedy "Yes and No" in November. At Christmas the annual show to provide toys for the children of the Solarium will feature Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

The unusual and somewhat eerie play "Outward Bound" will be produced in January and in February an evening with Shakespeare's plays will feature scenes from "Romeo and Juliet," "Merchant of Venice" and "Julius Caesar."

A three-act comedy "You Can't Take It With You" will be staged in March and another evening of music and variety will be presented in April.

The membership campaign is now being conducted and tickets may be obtained from the Marionette Library or from the secretary-treasurer at the Bank of Montreal.

A few more voices, especially contraltos, tenors and light baritones are needed in the choral group.

Registration Slow On City Voters' List

Only 11 voters have added their names to the city voters' list during the first three days it has been open for registration.

Jack Storrie, 340 Chester Avenue, was the first on the list. No ladies registered until late in the second day, the first one being Miss Marion E. Calder, Strathcona Hotel.

Leading Masons In City Today On Brief Visit

The Masonic Order in Canada is flourishing today and is growing faster than ever before in the history of its existence in this country, according to Dr. Douglas G. McIlwraith, Sovereign Grand Commander of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rites, who arrived in Victoria today with 80 other members of the council and their wives.

Canada, Dr. McIlwraith said, was the only Dominion in the British Commonwealth with its own supreme council of the A. and A.S.R.

The Sovereign Grand Commander, officers and members of the council are visiting here on the long way round to the council's annual meeting to be held in Calgary Sept. 8 to 11.

The party was met at 9 this morning by a local reception committee at the C.P.R. dock. It was escorted to the Empress Hotel where a mixed luncheon was held at noon today.

W. L. Woodhouse acted as chairman and greetings were extended by Mayor Percy E. George on behalf of the city. The welcome to the party was given by Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb.

At 2 this afternoon, sightseeing buses left the hotel to take the party for a scenic drive through the district. Mr. Woodhouse will be chairman again at a complimentary dinner to be given at the hotel this evening.

After the King, a toast will be proposed to the council by Eric W. Boak and responded to by Dr. McIllwraith., Dr. Hermann Robertson will sing a song.

A toast will be proposed to other supreme councils with whom the Canadian council is in friendly relations. This will be proposed by R. A. B. Wootton and responded to by Judge G. E. Bushnell, Sovereign Grand Inspector-General, Michigan, and Maj. R. L. Loyd of the Supreme Council of England and Wales.

The visitors will leave here this evening for Vancouver, Lake Louise and Banff, before finally reaching Calgary. They started their tour from Toronto Aug. 25. Most of the members are from Ontario, but there are also some from Quebec and as far east as New Brunswick.

Campaign Will Help Salvationists Build New Citadel Here

C. S. Henley, chairman of the Salvation Army Red Shield campaign, states that the organization of all divisions is now complete, with the exception of a few districts where additional women canvassers are urgently needed.

Volunteers are requested to phone B 4216.

The Salvation Army Red Shield campaign started Tuesday and the results so far from the men's division have been gratifying.

The women's division, conducting the house-to-house canvass, will commence next Monday.

The objective of the campaign is $30,000, $15,000 of which will be used to complete the new citadel and the balance for Salvation Army social services.

Victorian Studied Law While In P.O.W. Camp For 4 Years

HAROLD HORNE

Completing his first visit home after an absence of eight and one-half years from Victoria is Harold Horne, one of five sons of Mrs. W. H. Horne, 1527 Clive Drive, Oak Bay, who was captured as a commissioned officer with the British Army during the immense German airborne invasion of Crete in 1941.

Mr. Horne and his English wife spent a holiday at Yellow Point before coming to Victoria. They will leave tomorrow for Ottawa where the former prison-of-war is with the Department of External Affairs.

He arrived in England in April, 1939, and when war broke out joined the British Army. Mr. Horne was taken prisoner with many other soldiers and was wounded while in the camp. When released at the end of the war he was in hospital in England and met the girl who is his wife.

While prisoner for over four years Mr. Horne took advantage of educational opportunities offered, taking university law and bar exams. He had his final exams in London in June of this year. After release from hospital Mr. Horne was with the Canadian High Commissioner's office in London.

Of the other Horne brothers, three are also veterans. Two are in Victoria, another in eastern Canada and the eldest in East Africa.

Esmond, with the R.C.N.V.R. during the war, is seeking his medical degree at Toronto. Derek, with the R.C.A.F. overseas, is here studying to become a chartered accountant. Ian, youngest of the five, 22 years, started out as a major in the Oak Bay Cadets and was overseas with the Royal Navy for the last year of the war. He is now studying law. Edgar is an assistant commissioner of police in Kenya, East Africa.

Shirras Expected Today With Report

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer and Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the B.C. Police conferred today on the Doukhobor question as a preliminary to the receipt of the report of Deputy Commissioner John Shirras, sent into the West Kootenay Valley to investigate terrorism attributed to the radical Sons of Freedom Sect of the Doukhobors.

Commissioner Shirras is expected to arrive in Victoria later today with his report, details of which have not yet been disclosed.

No announcement was made following the conference of Mr. Wismer and Commissioner Parsons today.

B.C. Not Planning Tsable River Road

It was understood here today that the provincial government does not look favorably on the building of a road into Tsable River, proposed scene for opening up of new coal mines by the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd.

The Tsable River coal resources are looked on by the government and the company as the most favorable coal deposits on Vancouver Island for development. It is reported that full-scale production of a new mine there would double output of Vancouver Island coal which has been declining steadily for the past years, the seams being capable of producing up to 1,000 tons daily for the next 30 years.

Transportation of the coal to tide-water is one of the major difficulties faced in the development of the Tsable River deposits.

The provincial works department's position is that other roads in the province are more needed than a link with Tsable River.

Sugar coupons No. 26 to 51, will expire in the hands of consumers Sept. 15, it was announced today by the local ration office.

Town Topics

Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society will meet at the City Hall tonight at 8. "Housing the Plants" will be the topic for discussion.

A building permit has been issued to R. A. Woods to add a five-room suite over a store at 3110 Shelbourne Street, at a cost of $4,000.

The toll this year of poliomyelitis in British Columbia today stood at 182, a new case having been reported today from Chilliwack. To date eight British Columbians have died of the disease.

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening approved the application of Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett to build a house at 3040 Beach Drive at an estimated cost of $15,000.

Harry G. Horne, 725 Pine Street, has written the City Council complaining of the condition of the plank walk on Hereward Road, between Old Esquimalt Road and Pine Street. He warned that an accident might occur if the city did not get the sidewalk repaired.

On the grounds it had no authority to meet the request, an appeal from the Victoria Musical Arts Society for a grant was rejected by Oak Bay council Wednesday evening.

The contract for the refrigeration plant for the Memorial Arena has been completed, A. J. Patton, city solicitor, reported today, and has been forwarded for signature.

In future the public works committee will meet weekly, instead of alternate weeks, Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman, said today. One meeting will be allocated to traffic problems and the other to general business.

Collections from the parking meters between Aug. 5 and 29 amounted to $2,875 it was reported from the comptroller's office today. Half this sum goes to the city coffers and half to the company supplying the meters until they are paid for.

New Registrations Of B.C. Automobiles Doubles During July

New registrations of automobiles in British Columbia during July more than doubled the July, 1946, total, the motor-vehicle office reported today.

New car registrations totaled 1,242 for last July, compared with 584 during July, 1946, a monthly report of the office showed today. Used car registrations last July were 502, against 254 during the previous July.

During last July the office also issued 565 new licenses for commercial vehicles. This total compares with 401 issued during the previous July.

New registrations of motorcycles showed a big jump, 202 licenses being issued during last July compared with 33 during the previous July. While 560 trailers were registered during July, 1946, 586 were registered last July.

Transfer of autos and motorcycles continued high, 7,461 being registered during last July compared with 4,540 during the previous July. Of this total for last July, 5,767 were for passenger vehicles.

At the month's end there were registered in B.C. a total of 155,196 motor vehicles, including 114,231 private cars. The total number registered on July 31, 1946, was 134,833.

Number of licensed motorcycles has risen during the year from 2,446 to 3,552, while the number of licensed trailers has increased from 6,854 to 8,037.

Well over one-fifth of the population of B.C. now is licensed to drive cars. With a population of more than 1,000,000, British Columbia at the end of July had 224,056 licensed drivers.

Makes C.P.R. Decisions In B.C.

GEORGE H. BAILLIE

The most important visitor to Victoria this week is George H. Baillie, vice-president of the recently-created Pacific Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Baillie, shown above in a characteristic pose at the Empress Hotel Wednesday, is familiarizing himself with the vast holdings and operations of his company on Vancouver Island and meeting top officials.

When W. M. Neal, president of the C.P.R., selected Mr. Baillie he picked a man who knew this province. Mr. Baillie is convinced of the unbounded opportunities here and is determined to see that his company keeps pace with the development.

No longer will it be necessary for company decisions to be made in the vice-president's office at Winnipeg, as has been the custom for many years. Mr. Baillie will give the answers in Vancouver on the expanding program of the company, which now includes the fields of rail, ship, airplane, bus and motor and freight car ferries.

Gallup Poll

One In Three Know What To Do With Their Compulsory Savings

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

When, a few weeks ago, the Ottawa government announced it would start repaying compulsory savings in 1948, the announcement had direct significance to slightly more than three in every 10 Canadians, who were sure they had some compulsory savings accumulated as a result of the 1942 income tax provisions. Of these three, only one has definite plans for this money.

These are the broad conclusions from a survey taken by the Institute among an accurate cross-section of the population, who were first asked:

"We don't want to know the amount, of course, but do you happen to know whether you (or your husband) have any money coming to you from the compulsory savings which the government collected during the war?"

Canada's population 21 years of age and over answer this question as follows: Yes, have compulsory savings, 38%. No, have not, 49%. Don't know, or not sure, 13%.

Incidental evidence as to the consistency of opinion-sampling results, is found in the fact that, a year ago, when a similar question was asked, exactly the same percentage of the population (38%) stated that they had compulsory savings coming to them.

This group, who were definite in their opinion that they did have compulsory savings due them, were then asked:

"The government has said that it will start paying this money back next year. Have you any definite plans as to how you will spend it?"

Here is the way the 38 per cent divides: Yes, have plans, 12%. No, no plans, 22%. Wouldn't say, 40%.

Among those who have plans, largest group say they will use this money on "improvements to our home." The next largest single group say they are going to "save it for a rainy day." Then come those who plan to use the money towards buying or building a new home. Fourth largest group plan to catch up on debts, or pay bills. The fifth group in the top five simply said that the money would be used to help offset the increased cost of living.

Other answers were scattered, from people who say they will buy a new car to those who say they will buy a bicycle for their youngster, or a radio for the sunroom. A fairly large proportion said they would travel. Some Canadians will use the money to launch a marriage.

Best estimates available indicate that, between the time compulsory savings took effect in July, 1942, and its virtual discontinuance in mid-1944, the taxpaying public accumulated some $265,000,000 by way of compulsory savings, this money being used by the government in its war financing.

Hung Upside Down Hours, Boy Recovers

NANTON, Alta. (CP)—A 12-day search of the Nanton district has failed to locate two unidentified youths who, Aug. 21, grabbed Gordon Gray, 12, tied his feet together and left him hanging head down in an unused granary.

The boy remained there for almost three hours before he was discovered and cut down by his mother, but today he showed no ill effects from his experience.

The boy said he was with his pony, which he kept tethered near the granary, when he was approached by two boys, both strangers, who insisted he permit them to ride the pony.

Gordon refused and an argument followed. The boys overpowered the Nanton boy and dragged him to the granary where they tied his feet with a rope and hoisted him to a rafter.

PLAZA THEATRE

When Louise Allbritton was introduced to Fred MacMurray on the set of "The Egg and I," in which she plays the siren who tries to lure Fred away from Claudette Colbert, she looked at him and said: "Thank God!" The Universal-International film, based on the Betty MacDonald best seller, now is at the Plaza Theatre.

"Thank God for what?" said the astonished MacMurray.

"That He made you that tall," explained Louise.

She is one of the tallest girls in pictures, 5 feet, 7½ inches. MacMurray is 6 feet 3.

RIO THEATRE

Make a note right now to see Paramount's "Here Come the Waves," which is now at the Rio Theatre, for this Mark Sandrich production with Bing Crosby, Betty Hutton and Sonny Tufts rocks the boat with laughter from here to Trinidad and back.

Bing sings, as usual; one of his number is "Ac-cent-tchu-ate the Positive," and it's already sweeping the country. Crosby teams with Tufts in this spot—and it's a good one!

CAPITOL THEATRE

Six for two was the ratio of babies on the set of M-G-M's new musical, "Fiesta," for a scene in which Mary Astor, as the wife of Fortunio Bonanova, presents him with twins. Because of the short time very young babies can be used before the camera, six infants who looked alike were required to portray the girl and boy twins who grow up to be Esther Williams and Ricardo Montalban in later sequences of the picture. It is being shown this week on the Capitol screen.

STARR JOINS YANKEES

BOSTON (AP) — New York Yankees announced they would be joined today by rookie pitcher Dick Starr, just recalled from Newark of the International League, where he won nine and lost five.

Yankees' catcher-outfielder Larry Berra was sent back to New York last night because of more trouble with his throat. He may need to have his tonsils, said to be infected, removed, but it is hoped the operation can be postponed for the present.

Hollywood Sees Character Actors Shrink In Number

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Are you grey-haired, paunchy, middle-aged? Can you act? If so, come to Hollywood.

The movie town is suffering one of the oddest shortages in its history—character actors are getting scarcer and scarcer. The situation is getting critical, or so M-G-M casting director Billy Grady would have us believe. The competent character people are dying off like flies, and there is no one to replace them.

"Where can they come from?" asked Grady, a fast-talking ex-actor and agent. "Our best characters have come from vaudeville, stock and repertory companies. Those fields are now dead. There is no adequate training ground for new talent."

The result is that 30 well-trained veterans have a virtual monopoly on character roles in Hollywood, through lack of competition. The familiarity of their faces gives a quality of sameness to U.S. movies and thus makes them less believable.

The character market is rising rapidly. Grady said he brought Charles Coburn out from the stage six years ago at a guarantee of $600 a week. The actor is now pulling down from $100,000 to $150,000 a picture, which is pretty fancy dough for a 70-year old

Not every character can do as well, Grady admitted. Some of the old gaffers can't remember lines; two had to be removed from M-G-M pictures recently because they couldn't make the grade.

Hollywood has to solve the dearth of character actors or find itself in hot water, the talent man declared. His solution is the fostering of stock companies in every sizable U.S. town.

'Blaze Of Noon' Dramatic Picture

Hollywood has, at last, tapped one of the most thrilling realms of real life adventure, excitement and danger—the early days of commercial air mail—and the result is Paramount's spectacular sky saga, "Blaze of Noon," which opens at the Atlas Theatre today.

The half dozen top-flight actors required, and generously used, to do justice to the film's important roles are Anne Baxter, William Holden, Sonny Tufts, William Bendix, Sterling Hayden, and Howard DaSilva.

Announcements

MARRIAGES

COFFEY-FAIRBURN—The marriage took place in St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, on Saturday evening, with Rev. S. E. Flemming officiating, of Belva Irene Fairburn, daughter of Mr. J. A. Fairburn, Edmonton, Alta., and Selwyn E. Coffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coffey of Victoria.

HANSEN-GEORGE—Mr. and Mrs. Harry George, New Westminster, announce the marriage of their daughter, Pearl, to Harold O. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hansen, New Westminster. The ceremony took place in Victoria at the First Baptist Church, on Sept. 1, Rev. S. M. Hirtle officiating.

JOHNSON-BRYANT—On Sept 1, at 2.30 p.m., in the Chapel of St. Chad's College, Rev. A. Woods officiated at the marriage of Dorothy Lawther (Dorah), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bryant of Kamsack, to Maurice Harold, youngest son of Mrs. W. C. Johnson and the late Mr. Johnson of Regina and Moose Jaw.

PEASE-GORDON—The marriage is announced of Jean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Gordon, London, Ont., to Frederick Fell Pease, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pease, Elk Lake, Victoria. The ceremony took place on Sept. 2, in New York City.

SPARKES-MACKAY—The marriage is announced of Miss Verna Mackay to Mr. Raymond Sparkes. The ceremony took place quietly at the home of the bridegroom, 416 Westmoreland, Toronto, Ont., on Aug. 23, 1947, with Rev. K. Foreman officiating.

DEATHS

DANBY—On Sept. 3, 1947, at his residence, 1349 Despard Avenue, Arthur Victor Danby, in his 56th year; born in Victoria. He leaves his wife, at home; two brothers, William H. Danby, in Vancouver, and Montague J. Danby of Seattle; two nephews and one niece; also a cousin, Irene Archibald, in Vancouver. Mr. Danby was a veteran of the First Great War, serving overseas with the 49th Battalion for 4½ years.
Funeral on Saturday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1.15 p.m. for St. Matthias' Church, where service will be conducted by Rev. K. L. Sandercock at 1.30. Interment in Royal Oak Burial Park.

JORDAN—There passed away at the residence on Sept. 4, 1947, Charles William Jordan, aged 62 years, beloved husband of Hilda Jordan of 3162 Somerset Street; born in London, England, and had resided in Victoria for the past 41 years. He leaves to mourn besides his wife, one daughter, Miss Olive, at home. He was a member of Court Victoria Lodge No. 8820, A.O.F., and a member of the Naval Veterans, Canadian Legion.
Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros.' Floral Funeral Chapel on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

MacGOVERN—Passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Sept. 2, 1947, Mrs. Marion MacGovern, aged 71 years, of 3147 Quadra Street. She was born in Guthrie, Ont., and a resident of Victoria for 40 years. Survived by three brothers, William Campbell of Shanty Bay, Ont., Dr. Angus Campell of Toronto, and George Campbell of Barrie, Ont.; also nieces and nephews.
Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Thomson Funeral Home on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in Royal Oak Burial Park.

PEATT—On Sept. 3, 1947, there passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Mr. George Peatt, at the age of 83 years. Born in Cork, Ireland. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, May; also daughter, Mrs. J. P. Simon of 2138 Ferndale Road, R.R. 4; also another daughter, Miss Susan Peatt, and one son, George, both of Winnipeg, Man.
Remains resting at the Curry Funeral Home. Funeral service (private by request) at St. Luke's Church, Saturday morning, Sept. 6. Rev. F. Pike will officiate. Interment at St. Luke's Cemetery.

STEPHENSON — On Sept. 2, 1947, Mrs. Emily Mary Stephenson, of 130 Menzies Street, aged 99 years; born in England and a resident of Nelson, B.C., and Victoria for the past 58 years. She leaves a sister, Miss Alice Williams of 1036 Collinson Street, Victoria, and a nephew, Alfred G. Williams, also in Victoria.
Funeral service in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Friday at 3 p.m., followed by cremation.

CARD OF THANKS

The relatives of the late Mr. William Murray, and Mrs. Robert Campbell, his friend, wish to thank Dr. Leonard Bapty, the doctors and nurses of the third north of the Jubilee Hospital for their kindness shown to Mr. Murray in his recent illness and to Rev. Walter Ross for his kind words.

IN MEMORIAM

BARNES—In loving memory of wife and mother, Laura Barnes, who passed away suddenly Sept. 4, 1945.

You are not forgotten, dear mother,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell.
Of the grief that's borne in silence.
For the one ever loved so well.

—Ever remembered by dad and family.

The colored acquaintance of my friends down in Georgia was bemoaning the fact that she was still unmarried. "But your young man seems very devoted, Lucinda. Why don't you marry him?" I asked.
"Well'm, I got a problem about that man. Sometimes he gladdens me, and sometimes he maddens me, but I just can't decide if he gladdens me more or maddens me more. An till I can decide, I'll just keep him danglin' till mah poor heart just bursts with misery. Then I'll accept him, no matter what I decide!"

I was just falling asleep one night when the telephone rang. When I answered, a totally unfamiliar voice said, "My husband gets me so mad!"
"I'm sorry, you must have the wrong number," I said.
Ignoring the interruption, the voice continued. "Does he think it's a picnic taking care of three children all day? I'd like to go out once in a while, too. But does he care? Out every night—with the boys he says. And I'm supposed to believe it!"
I interrupted again, very firmly. "I'm sorry, madam, but you really have the wrong number. I don't know you at all."
"Of course you don't," agreed the voice. "I couldn't tell this to any of my friends. They gossip. But I had to get it off my chest. I feel much better now. Thanks a lot." And she hung up.

Home Building

BUILDING SUPPLIES

HOME BUILDERS' BARGAINS
In stock for immediate delivery. Asphalt Hexagon Shingles, 165 lbs. per square, best grade saturated felt with slate that stays on. Precision made to rigid specifications and carries fire underwriters' label. For new work or right over your present shingles, one color only, but a very attractive shade of medium green, color will not fade and gives years of service. Price per square (covers 100 sq. ft.), $8.75. Roof nails and other accessories can be supplied with each order. Shingles can be purchased to apply yourself or we can quote you on a laid roof. Order early before the rains start.

WALLBOARDS
Wherever the sun shines you need CANEC PROTECTION against HEAT, COLD, NOISE and TERMITES. By a special and exclusive process Canec is treated to withstand rot and will not attract insects or vermin. All fibres of Canec are made water-resistant during manufacture thus reducing the possibility of buckling or warping. Canec is amongst the strongest and most rigid insulation board on the market, having a tensile strength of over 200 lbs. per square inch. Countless dead air cells and cross-grain fibres assure sound insulation and added warmth. One side of board is primed ivory finish and can be left without further decorating, easy to cut and apply. Large 4 ft. x 8 ft. sheets make easy work out of big job.
4 ft. x 8 ft. sheets, ⅝ in. thick, each $1.92
4 ft. x 8 ft. sheets, ½ in. thick, each $2.40

GYPTEX
For distinctive wall textures in colors use Gyptex. A simple method to change the appearance of any room from plain walls to attractive texture like plaster finish. Just mix powder with warm water and apply over plaster, gyproc, plywood. V-joint or panelling. Five attractive colors and white. One lb. does average of 7 square feet. Cost for room 10 ft. x 10 ft., approximately $7.00. Call or write for color cards and sample. 10-lb. package, $1.60. 25-lb. sack, $3.50.

Modern Massacre Removes Indians From Boxla Finals

MONTREAL (CP)—A revival last Monday of Indian massacres of days long ago, which resulted in attempted "scalping" of four Cornwall, Ont., lacrosse players, has cost the Caughnawaga Indians the right to participate in the Quebec Lacrosse Association playoffs.

The Q.L.A. announced last night following a special meeting that the Indians were expelled from further playoff participation as an aftermath of the riot Monday at Lachine Arena when four Cornwall players and a referee suffered head injuries when the Caughnawaga team and about 200 spectators mobbed the Cornwall team.

Simultaneously with the Q.L.A. ruling, the Lachine City Council decided that no further rental would be granted to either Indian controlled lacrosse or hockey teams.

The Caughnawaga Indian reservation, located opposite Lachine on the south bank of the St. Lawrence River, has no indoor sports arena where hockey and lacrosse games may be played. The action by the Lachine City Council will prevent Caughnawaga from participating in future sports events in Lachine.

The riot started in the second period with Cornwall leading 7 to 2. Of the 2,000 spectators 200 stormed onto the floor, smashing down a 30-foot stretch of wire fencing, and ganged up on the visiting team.

FROGS HELPED GALVANI TO OBTAIN ELECTRIC CURRENT

It may seem strange to hear that frogs have helped men win knowledge about electric power, but it is true.

They were dead frogs, and had no way of knowing what it was all about, but they served their purpose.

In the year 1780, an Italian named Luigi Galvani was at work in the city of Bologna. He was trying to learn about the nerves of frogs by seeing what would happen when an electric shock was given to them.

Since the frog's body is very moist, it will conduct an electric current very well. Galvani found that if he touched a dead frog at the same moment an electric charge was drawn into the frog, the legs of the animal would draw up as if it were alive!

At a later time, Galvani learned another amazing fact. He found that a pair of frog's legs fastened to a brass wire would make a strong movement if the feet and the wire were made to touch iron at the same time.

What did this mean? Galvani did not know but the key had been found to a great secret. When the key was used, it would bring about the electric battery!

Galvani supposed that the frog had some electric power in it, but he was only partly right. The "power" was its moist body, which carried the electric current.

Another Italian, Alessandro Volta, was the one who put the key in the lock. He believed that the important thing was the difference between two metals.

"I can use wet paper instead of frog's legs," thought Volta, "to obtain a flow of electric current."

Volta made a heap of pieces of zinc, copper and moist paper. I say "heap," but I do not mean that the pieces were jumbled together. At the bottom was a piece of copper, and above it a piece of zinc, then moist paper, then copper, then zinc, then moist paper and so on.

When Volta touched the metal at the top and bottom, at the same time, he felt a strong shock—an electric shock.

The modern electric battery grew out of the work of Galvani and Volta.

Leaders Slip In Market Nosedive

NEW YORK (AP)—A short but fast nosedive in today's stock market dropped leaders as much as two or more points before short covering and timid investment demand stemmed the drive.

Mild irregularity ruled until the second hour when offerings turned relatively urgent for steels, motors, rails and industrials.

Dow Jones closing averages:
30 industrials ..177.27, off 1.82
20 rails ..48.08, off 1.13
15 utilities ..35.50, off 0.22
65 stocks ..63.58, off 0.80
Total sales, 870,000.

London Market

LONDON (CP)—Movements in today's stock market transactions were of narrow proportions. Small improvements that dotted the list were attributed to bear covering.

Oil shares perked up somewhat on small turnover and the mining section was generally firm. In the foreign bond section, Brazilians picked up slightly.

Closings: Babcock & Wilcox 67s 3d, Boots Pure Drug 51s 4½d, Canadian Pacific £16, Central Mining £21½, Consolidated Goldfields 70s, Courtalds 41s 9d, De Beers 31s 9d, Hudson's Bay Co. 62s 6d, London Midland Railway £26½, Metal Box 93s 6d, Mexican Eagle 18s 3d, Mining Trust Ltd. 16s 9d, Rand Mines 127s 6d.

Negative Trend In Most Groups

MONTREAL (CP)—A negative trend was in evidence in nearly all groups in dealings up to the final hour on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market today. Mines continued to trade heavily with volume at the 259,500 share mark for the first three hours.

Montreal averages:
20 industrials ..119.70 off .40
10 utilities ..76.60 off .20
30 combined ..105.30 off .40
10 pulp, paper ..336.45 off 7.09

CHICAGO (AP)—Both corn and oats made record highs again today on the Board of Trade, but best prices were shaved considerably during the latter part of the session. Wheat was strong and resisted late selling better than the feed grains.

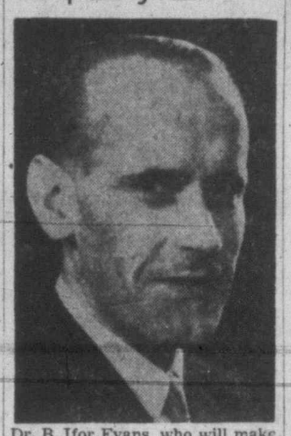
On Speaking Tour



Dr. B. Ifor Evans, who will make a speaking tour of Canada under the auspices of the United Kingdom Information Office, Ottawa, will be in Victoria Sept. 12. During his tour he will tell Canadian audiences something of the work of the Arts Council of Great Britain. He is very well qualified to do this, having been associated with the work of the wartime Council for the Encouragement of Music and Arts from the early stages. He is now vice-chairman of the Arts Council of Great Britain and widely associated with the arts.

40,000 Passengers Break All Records In Air Travel Here

Trans-Canada Airlines planes carried a record-breaking 40,000 passengers to and from Victoria during the summer months of June, July and August, R. L. Williams, T.C.A. city manager, reported here today.

Each month was in itself a record over all previous air travel to this city and each succeeding month showed higher figures than the preceding month.

In June approximately 11,000 passengers flew to and from the city. In July there were approximately 13,000, and in August approximately 15,750.

To meet the steady increase, T.C.A. has added facilities at both its Patricia Bay station and the Government Street offices. Additional facilities were also provided to handle the telephone reservations which flooded in.

Cannery Report Shows Smaller Sockeye Catches

Poor sockeye fishing was reflected today in the weekly report of the federal fisheries department on salmon canning operations in British Columbia.

While up until last week British Columbia's sockeye salmon season had been the second best during the past six years, statistics released today by the chief supervisor of fisheries in Vancouver showed for the first time the 1947 canning operations had dropped behind those of 1946. To date this year 258,124 48 pound cases of sockeye, considered the choicest species of B.C. salmon, have been canned. The 1946 total at the same date was 280,142, while the 1945 total was 321,542 cases.

Chums and pinks formed the largest catches during the week, swelling the total production of canned salmon for the year to 784,683 cases. At the same date last year 597,171 cases had been canned.

Canned to date this year has been almost three times as much pinks as during the same period of 1946, the total output now standing at 268,403 cases. Chums canned to date have produced 164,004 cases, compared with 159,220 cases at this date last year.

Statistics of canning operations for the past six years show that despite the lagging sockeye catches the 1947 season is the second best, exceeded only by the 1945 record year, during which 1,183,386 cases had been produced at this date. Last year was the poorest season during the six-year cycle.

2 Island Companies Among 18 New Firms Registered In B.C.

Two Vancouver Island companies were among 18 new firms registered during the week ended Wednesday at the Parliament Buildings under the Companies Act.

2 More Pits Close As British Miners In Sympathy Strike

LONDON (AP)—The wildcat strike in Britain's coal mines today spread to two more pits, leaving nearly 60,000 men idle and aggravating the British fuel shortage.

A total of 48 pits in Yorkshire were closed.

Production elsewhere was curtailed, imperilling the governments recovery program centred around factory output for export.

The Press Association said the Sheffield Gas Company, serving some of the largest British steel producers, had asked industrial consumers to cut production "by as much as 50 per cent."

The dispute, which may soon cause 2,400 Yorkshire industrial plants employing more than 100,000 workers to shut down for lack of fuel, began three weeks ago among 2,000 miners at the Grimethorpe pit.

The miners refused to comply with an order by the National Coal Board that they dig two feet more of coal each day. When the board, which administers Britain's nationalized mines for the government, called for termination of their contracts, they struck and sympathy walkouts in other mines followed.

Scratched Hull Paint Only Kathleen Damage

Scratched paint on her hull below the waterline was the only damage suffered by the C.P.R.'s coastal vessel Princess Kathleen which grounded on a rock shoal in First Narrows, Vancouver Harbor, early Wednesday, Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service, reports.

After calling here following the accident, the Kathleen returned to Vancouver on her regular run and divers went down to search for damage. The only damage discovered was scratched paint. She sailed for Seattle from Vancouver Wednesday night in the triangle service.

Sailing Tonight

The Lake Lillooet is scheduled to sail at midnight tonight with 380,000 feet of lumber loaded here for Capetown and East London, South Africa, Ken Briggs of King Bros. Ltd., shipping agents, reported today.

Movements of other ships for which King Bros. are shipping agents are: Bradford City, due Friday morning to load 700,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom; Samtruth, due Saturday to load 875,000 feet for the U.K.; Norwegian motorship Skaubo, due to sail this evening for New Westminster, and the Lake Nippigon, due to drydock Friday for general repairs.

To Extend Air Mails

MONTREAL (CP)—The International Air Transport Association announced here today that, for the first time since the war, the major cities of Europe will be connected by a grid of overnight air mail and air freight services throughout the coming winter.

DEVIL'S ISLAND

THE recent appointment of a Borstal expert to take charge of British Columbia's New Haven, where delinquent boys will be helped along the path to good citizenship, instead of herded with hardened offenders, is another step along Canada's road to penal reform.

This and other current indications of growing Canadian attention to the need for such reform lends more than ordinary interest to the passing of a prison which for years has shocked humanitarians the world over.

It is the infamous penal colony of Devil's Island, in French Guiana, where 70,000 convicts and political prisoners have languished in durance vile during the 95 years since it was established by Napoleon III.

BEING REPATRIATED

BANISHMENT to the colony ended in 1938. But the war prevented the return to France of those who had served their terms.

Now, according to a report issued by the French Salvation Army, which was designated officially as the agency for rehabilitating the prisoners, all of them will have been repatriated by the end of this year.

During the last year 1,582 were brought out, many of whom had spent 20 to 40 years in exile. This brought the number of ex-convicts returned to their homes in France and North Africa to 2,386.

Another 800 who have completed their terms are awaiting shipment from French Guiana. This leaves 2,718 still serving sentences in this South American penal colony, who must either complete their terms or be moved to other prisons before the dreaded place can be finally closed.

TERRIBLE PAST

MEN serving long terms or for life are being moved to the prison of St. Martin de Re, on the Ile de Re, off La Rochelle, France.

Public outcry against the terrible conditions existing in the colony led to some improvements during more recent years. But it still remained almost medieval in character.

In its hey-day—if one can use the term—disease was so rife in that tropical hell that for a time 90 per cent of the thousand sent there annually died before they had completed five years of their term.

It is also reported that, of the 800 returned to France just before the war, almost a third died under the strain of war conditions.
